NORTHERN ASSEMBLY IN CONFUSION OVER SEMINARY QUESTION

At 12:30 Tuesday, When Recess Was Taken for Lunch, Union Theological Seminary Matter Was Still Unsettled

NEGOTIATIONS PROBABLY WILL BE DISCONTINUED

This Is Indicated by Applause Which Has Greeted Every Such Suggestion–Dr. Brown Replies to Dr. Monfort

In the midst of the utmost parliamentary confusion, with the Union Theological question still unsettled, the northern assembly adjourned at 12:30 Tuesday for lunch.

It will reconvene at 2:30, and will thresh out the seminary question to a finish, regardless of the time required. That is, all other matters on the docket will be held in abeyance until the seminary matter is disposed of.

Indications are that the seminary matter will consume all of the Tuesday afternoon session, and perhaps run into the Wednesday afternoon session.

The whole time devoted to the seminary matter Tuesday morning (from 11 until 12 o'clock) was taken up by Dr. Francis Brown, president of the seminary, who spoke in behalf of the faculty and directors.

DR. BROWN DEFIANT.

The substance of his speech was that the seminary considers itself an institution separate from and independent of the assembly; that it will pursue its own program without dictation from the assembly, and that if the assembly does not approve this program, then negotiations looking to re-establishment of relations between the assembly and the seminary might as well be terminated.

Dr. Brown was calm, cold and conservative in his delivery. His attitude was dignified and defiant. He remarked, in the course of his reply to Dr. F. C. Monfort's sensational charge, made Monday afternoon, that the seminary is teaching Hindu philosophy under the guise of Christianity, that the charge is untrue and unfair, and that he found it extremely difficult to hold his temper when he thought of it.

The applause which greeted every suggestion of terminating negotiations finally indicates that this disposition of the matter is favored by the majority of the assembly.

At 11 o'clock the assembly resumed consideration of the Union Theological seminary matter, which, being left unfinished Monday afternoon, was made the special order for this hour.

Dr. Francis Brown, president of the seminary, took up his remarks where he left off Monday afternoon.

He again reminded the assembly that the seminary was not present on its motion. That the seminary was asking nothing and proposing nothing, but that the whole procedure was initiated by the assembly.

He said the committee made only one proposal to the seminary, which simply was that the seminary provide special training in Presbyterian theology for the Presbyterian students. He said the seminary readily agreed to this proposal by offering to provide lectures, so that the only difference between this and the committee's proposals is that the committee suggested a professorship.

Discussing the three reports of the committee, Dr. Brown said it seemed incredible that the assembly could adopt or consider the report of Dr. Monfort (minority No. 2).

"To invite us to friendly conference, and then to meet us on your threshold with that report, would be like using a club on your guests," said he.

He argued at length in support of the contention that the seminary is an independent institution, and that the only question involved in the negotiations with the committee was and is whether the seminary will provide special instruction in Presbyterian doctrine and polity for Presbyterian students.

OBJECTED TO REASON.

In regard to the minority report No. 1, which recommends the dismissal of the committee on the ground that re-establishment of relations is impossible, Dr. Brown indicated that the seminary has no objection to terminating negotiations, but does object to the reasons assigned in the report, namely, that the informal doctrinal statement of the seminary declaring its faculty does not conform to the standards of the Presbyterian church.

In regard to the majority report, which recommends continuance of negotiations, Dr. Brown said, almost in so many words, that it was a matter of indifference to the seminary whether the negotiations are continued or not.

Unless the assembly unanimously and cordially voted to continue negotiations, the seminary, he said, could not in self-respect desire or take part in a continuance.

Before concluding, Dr. Brown spoke a word in regard to Union seminary graduates who have been licensed to the Presbyterian ministry. He made the assertion that no graduate who has been licensed has failed to affirm his belief in the deity of Christ, the authority of the Bible and other essential articles of the Presbyterian faith.

PREPERS TO TERMINATE.

In conclusion, Dr. Brown told the assembly, frankly and briefly, that the seminary preferred the negotiations to terminate.

For fifteen minutes following the close of Dr. Brown's remarks, Moderator Stone explained to the assembly in detail the method of procedure which had been agreed upon between himself and the four leaders. Before he finished, Dr. Howard Agnew Johnston moved to table the whole matter. The moderator declared the motion lost, on a rising vote without a count, but a count was demanded, and the result was 466 to 314 against the motion.

Commissioners were on their feet all over the floor, clamoring for information and to make motions, which rendered the situation an extremely trying one for the chair, and more especially

"BRIEF STATEMENT" BRINGS BIG ROW IN SOUTHERN ASSEMBLY

Dr. T. S. Knox, of Texas, Declares Statement Full of "Bad Grammar, Bad Language and Bad Theology"

DR. STRICKLER EXPECTED TO QUELL THE STORM

Confidence Expressed That His Address During Afternoon Will Shed New Light on the Matter

A minority fight on the special committees' report on the "brief statement" which came up as a special order at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning before the Presbyterian assembly in the United States, in which the committees recommended its adoption with certain amendments, threatened for a moment to split the conference and developed a mild sensation that was quilted with difficulty.

Dr. Wells, chairman of the committee, had finished its reading and asked that the recommendation be adopted at once, though taking into consideration the few changes that had been made. There were calls for the question when Dr. T. S. Knox, of Tepas, arose to protest. He was granted the floor by the moderator and at once began an attack on the statement in its present form. He declared that there was no call for such a statement and that the west did not want it.

"It puts danger in the way of our proposed union with other branches of the Presbyterian church," he said. "If it is passed the same question must be decided by them as well as ourselves. Too much rein has been allowed the committee and I arise to protest against it."

"BAD GRAMMAR AND THEOLOGY"

The crisis came when Dr. Knox declared the "brief statement" was full

ANOTHER DECISION IN FAVOR OF PROHIBITION

Intoxicating Liquor Can't Be Sold Even by an Employe of a Club

A decision handed down Tuesday by the state court of appeals in the case of the Rothschild, steward of the Brunswick-Oglethorpe club, of Brunswick, is being received with great satisfaction by the prohibitionists.

Rothschild was convicted in the Glynn county superior court for the illegal sale of whisky and sentenced by Judge C. B. Conyers to twelve months on the chaingang or the payment of a $900 fine. He appealed the case, and the higher court, in affirming the verdict and sentence, ruled as follows:

"On the trial of an indictment for selling liquor it is no defense that the accused sold the liquor as an employe of a social club to the members thereof. Intoxicating liquor cannot be sold in this state by an individual or a corporation as a beverage, and where a steward of a social club sells to the members of the club intoxicating liquors he is guilty of a violation of what is known as the prohibition law, although in making the sale he is acting solely for the benefit of the club.

"The evidence of the state demanied the conviction, and the statement of the accused, to the effect that in selling the intoxicating liquors to members of the club he was acting for the club, and that he received no personal benefit from such sales, constitutes no defense."

The decision in this case was written by Judge B. H. Hill, chief judge of the court of appeals. Taken in connection with a Savannah case decided last week by the state supreme court, it, according to leading prohibitionists, will make the enforcement of the prohibition law much easier.

In the Savannah case the supreme court held that the illegal sale of liquor constituted a blind tiger within the meaning of the law; that blind tigers are nuisances and that any citizen or citizens, without indictments or warrants, may apply for injunction against such nuisances, and upon a proper showing the courts must grant the injunctions sought.

BURTON SMITH HOLDS COUNTY PRIZE RING AGAINST ALL COMERS

Well-Known Attorney Fights Three to Five Men, According to Varying Opinions, at Court House Tuesday

C. W. WALTON WAS FIRST TO RECEIVE A BLOW

Then W. H. Byrd and Several Others Got Into the Fray, Mr. Smith Claims He Was Insulted–Story of Fight

Burton Smith, prominent Atlanta lawyer, was the central figure in what for a moment or two a free-for-all fight shortly after 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the corridor about Judge Andrew Calhoun's court room.

The number of men opposed to Mr. Smith is an open question, as the estimates of startled bystanders vary from two to five, and Mr. Smith himself declares he doesn't know.

The trouble occurrred while Attorney James N. Anderson, as aditor, was taking testimony in the receivership proceedings in the famous oid Crawford will case.

While there was a lull in the proceedings Mr. Smith was in the corridor talking with Mrs. Cash, one of the scores of people interested in the case, when C. W. Walton came up and in a second they were in a fight.

W. H. Byrd, of 44 West Twelfth street, then came in to separate the combatants, he says, to assist Walton, Mr. Smith says, and in another second or two the melee became general.

FAST AND FURIOUS.

Mr. Smith is a powerful figure, standing well over six feet, and is very athletic, but the force of numbers gave him a very warm few minutes.

According to Carroll Latimer, an attorney opposed to Mr. Smith in the case, he was "knocking them down just as fast as his arms could swing."

According to Captain W. C. Massey, court reporter, who rushed to the scene, when he heard the noise of the conflict, there were about five men hitting and striking at the lawyer, who was knocking them to the floor with nearly every lick.

Attorney Reuben R. Arnold, associated as counsel for Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford with Mr. Smith, Mr. Latimer, Deputy Sheriff John Owens, county policemen and bailiffs stopped the fight after an exciting few minutes.

Walton and Byrd, both of whom received several blows, are said to have made an effort to have an accusation against Mr. Smith drawn in the city court, but were informed that the recorder's court would be the proper place for such a proceeding.

CAUSE OF TROUBLE.

As to the cause of the trouble Mr. Smith declares that Mr. Walton came up and spoke in a very insulting manner to him, while he was conversing in the corridor with Mrs. Cash, whom it seems is some connection of Walton's.

Mr. Smith then struck the first blow.

The Crawford will case has been in the courts about five years. More than a score of heirs, who are represented by Attorney Carroll Latimer and J. S. James are trying to wrest an estate valued at approximately $80,000 from Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford, widow of the late Joshua B. Crawford, who is represented by Mr. Smith and Mr. Arnold.

As the result of the conflict Mr. Smith bears a very battered hand, while Mr. Byrd has a deep gash over the eye, and Mr. Walton also shows signs of the fight on his face. The other alleged participants quickly disappeared.

This makes the fourth fight in two months in the corridor about the court room on the fourth floor of the Thrower building, and the corridor has now been dubbed by court attaches as the "county prize ring."

Militants Threaten To Ruin the World's Best Golf Course

(By Associated Press.)

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 20.—This little town is almost in a state of siege because of threats uttered by the militant suffragettes that they will destroy the Putting Greens and thus render play impossible in the world's amateur golf championship, which is to be competed for here next week.

Intense excitement prevails among the townspeople, who depend largely for their prosperity upon the golf links, while members of the Royal and Ancient Golf club are extremely anxious. They and the citizens have organized a vigilance committee, whose members, together with 5,000 volunteers, will guard the greens night and day.

HENRY M. FLAGLER DIES AT FLORIDA HOME

Millionaire Railroad and Oil Magnate Had Been Ill for Long While

(By Associated Press.)

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., May 20.—Henry M. Flagler, aged eighty-three, the noted capitalist and railroad magnate, died at his winter home here this morning, after an illness of several weeks.

The octogenarian sustained a fall from the steps in his home and because of his advanced age his recovery had not been anticipated.

For the past few weeks Mr. Flagler had been losing practically all of his faculties and his death was momentarily expected. Several of his relatives and business associates had been summoned to the financier's bedside.

DEAT I WAS PAINLESS.

Death came quietly and without pain to the noted capitalist.

The body will be buried in a mausoleum at St. Augustine, in the yard of the Memorial church which he gave to the Presbyterians.

Mr. Flagler was born at Canandaigua, N. Y., in 1820. Little is known of his early life except that he was clerk in a country grocery in Orleans county, Mich., while yet in his teens. Later he removed to Saginaw, Mich., where he engaged in the manufacture of salt.

Becoming interested in the possibilities of the petroleum industry he removed to Cleveland, Ohio, where he organized the company of Rockefeller, Andrews & Flagler, engaging in the refining of oil. The Standard Oil company was the outgrowth of this venture, and Mr. Flagler has constantly remained actively connected with the management of the great corporation since its inception.

In 1885 Mr. Flagler paid his first visit to Florida, and became impressed with the business possibilities presented there by the railroad field, in connection with the development of winter resorts.

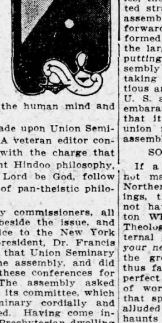
CATECHISM DECLARING CREED OF PRESBYTERIANS IS A VITAL DOCUMENT, SAYS WM. T. ELLIS

Union Seminary Debate Will Be Forgotten, but This Will Live–Rigid Orthodoxy of Assemblies Revealed in Many Ways

By William T. Ellis

TWO of the three Presbyterian assemblies have come up to the dangerous rock of theology. Today is a day of debate and discussion in the U. S. and U. S. A. meetings, and the issue that lies beneath the questions is whether Presbyterians hold to the old faith or are lax and "liberal" in their doctrinal views.



The crowds that thronged the Tabernacle yesterday at the hour of debate over the Union Theological Seminary report were ocular evidence of the intense and widespread interest in the subject. A great debate was expected, and nobody was disappointed. The deepest convictions of the human mind and heart were stirred.

The onslaught made upon Union Seminary was terrific. A veteran editor concluded his attack with the charge that the seminary taught Hindoo philosophy, and cried "If the Lord be God, follow Him; if this Baal of pan-theistic philosophy, follow it."

To a good many commissioners, all this seems a bit beside the issue, and does a real injustice to the New York institution. The president, Dr. Francis Brown, pointed out that Union Seminary asks nothing of the assembly, and did not itself initiate these conferences for closer relations. The assembly asked Union to meet with its committee, which invitation the seminary cordially and courteously accepted. Having come into the hospitable Presbyterian dwelling as a guest, the unsuspecting seminary is being branded and kicked down stairs!

THE REAL DOCTRINAL ISSUE

The real doctrinal issue, which is in the Union Seminary case only by implication, was up when the catechism report was presented yesterday morning. This was a straight-out statement of credal belief. It told the world what the Presbyterian church believes on all essential doctrines. It puts these teachings into form for even the children to learn. It is theology in modern language. Here are clearest and most unequivocal statements concerning the inspiration of the scriptures, the Virgin birth, the Incarnation, the Resurrection. Upon this momentous document, the assembly voted in an overwhelming affirmative. After the Union Seminary debate has been forgotten, this catechism, which is the first, by the way, that the Presbyterian church in this country has ever adopted, will be affecting the thinking of ten of thousands of persons.

That every one of these three assemblies is rigidly orthodox is revealed in many ways. When the Northern church was passing resolutions favorable to a world conference on faith and order, it was particularly stipulated that "No church shall be invited to participate in the proposed conference that does not positively declare its faith in and obedience to Jesus Christ as God and Saviour."

AN EMBARASSING OVERTURE

In this connection arose the first embarassing situation that has been created between the U. S. and the U. S. A. churches. It has been clearly understood that the desire of the U. S. church was that no negotiations looking to formal organic union should be initiated at this time. Leaders in the larger church have been talking for months about the possibility of some enthusiastic commissioner arising and proposing such a resolution, which might be carried under the impulse of the dominant fellowship of the occasion. That is exactly what has been done, only, instead of some guileless commissioner, it was the astute and veteran stated clerk, Rev. Dr. William H. Roberts, who made the motion for closer organic union of all Presbyterian bodies, the same proposition to be submitted straightway to the U. S. and U. P. assemblies. The matter was brought forward through the action of the Reformed church in the U. S., and while the largest of the three assemblies was putting it through with cheers, the assembly in the North Avenue church was taking action in favor of a more cautious and deliberate procedure. Now the U. S. assembly is confronted with the embarassing condition of having to say that it is not prepared to enter into union negotiations with the U. S. A. assembly at the present time.

SOUTHERNER THE CAUSE.

If a brilliant southern orator had not made a speech which swept the Northern assembly clear of its moorings, the sense of deliberation would not have been lost. Rev. Dr. Thornton Whaling, president of Columbia Theological seminary, had brought fraternal greetings. "The salutations of your nearest living relative." He made the greatest speech of the assembly thus far. It was oratory at its best—perfect mastery of men, the witchery of words, and a passion of idealism that spoke to the heart. Dr. Whaling alluded to union as "the vision which haunts our hopes," and with consummate grace and tact, he paid a tribute to Union Theological seminary, where he, the head of the most conservative seminary in the land, once had been a student. An ovation transcending anything the assembly yet had seen, followed the peroration, which was a quotation from scripture, "God having some better things in store for us, that you, without us, could not be made perfect."

In connection with the discussion of ministerial relief and sustentation, several interesting facts were brought forward. The average salary of the Presbyterian minister in active service is $730 a year. *A maximum annuity of $400 is now allowed to re*tired ministers. Missionaries, home and foreign, lay and clerical, men and women, also may become beneficiaries of this board.

A POWERFUL SPEECH.

Several great speeches were made on this theme, but the most powerful, which was a real triumph, was the maiden speech o fthe new secretary of the board, Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, D. D., of Swarthmore, Pa. Dr. Foulkes held that great throng enrapt for forty minutes. The other end of the ministerial question, the recruiting of candidates, was up later in the day when the secretary of the board

PHAGAN CASE GOES TO THE GRAND JURY IN PRESENT FORM

Solicitor and Detectives Are Ready With Evidence and Will Present Bills for Jury's Consideration Friday

CAN FRANK INTRODUCE WITNESSES IN DEFENSE?

This Question Is Being Considered by Solicitor–Another Report That Mary Phagan Was Seen Saturday P. M.

The Fulton county grand jury will commence its investigation of the murder of Mary Phagan on Friday, not Thursday morning, according to an announcement from the solicitor general's office.

Unless there is an important development before that time, and none is considered likely, the names of only two suspects, Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory, and Newt Lee, negro night watchman, will be presented to the grand jury by the solicitor.

The grand jury hearing may consume two or three days, although it is possible that the body will be willing to return either a true bill or a no bill in one or both cases, after hearing only the principal witnesses.

While it has never been the custom of Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey to allow defendants and witnesses for the defendant before a grand jury hearing, it is said to be probable that an effort will be made to introduce witnesses in behalf of Mr. Frank.

Solicitor Dorsey would not be quoted on the matter, but he is said to be looking up the law on the subject in order that he may be ready to combat any efforts of Mr. Frank's counsel or friends to introduce testimony favorable to him.

Only a short time ago members of a grand jury called Dr. W. H. Gillem, against whom a bill was pending, before the body to answer the charge, but Gillem appeared there in the absence of the solicitor general.

A solicitor general of another circuit declares that in his opinion members of the grand jury may call any one they desire before them, regardless of whether the person summoned has testimony to offer for the state or the defendant.

TEST IS EXPECTED.

A definite test of this opinion of the law will be made, it is certain, if members of the grand jury make an effort to introduce any evidence which will be calculated to upset the theory of the crime held by the state.

The four-cornered hunt for the slayer of Mary Phagan was very active Tuesday, the entry of C. W. Doble, the Burns investigator, into the case having served only to intensify the interest of the other investigators. There are now in progress four practically separate probes of the crime. On the one side of the square is Solicitor General Dorsey and his attaches; on another the city detectives; on the third side the Pinkertons, and on the fourth side the Burns men, who have been brought into the case by Attorney Thomas B. Felder.

The fact that Solicitor General Dorsey is now ready for the case to go before the grand jury, is regarded as evidence that he considers the investigation as practically complete. While Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford will make no direct statement, he intimates that he, too, considers the case as practically complete.

The Burns investigators were reported Tuesday to have found evidence that would establish as a fact that Mary Phagan had been killed between noon and 1 p. m. on Saturday, April 26. Whether they have a witness who will testify to this or have unearthed circumstantial evidence to substantiate the theory is not known.

C. W. Doble, the Burns investigator, left his hotel early Tuesday morning and had not appeared again at a late hour in the afternoon.

Attorney Thomas B. Felder states that he has heard nothing from Tobie since Monday at 11 o'clock.

WANTED A DINNER.

U. S. AWAITS JAPAN'S MOVE ON LAND LAW

Japanese Have America's Answer to Protest and Rejoinder Is Expected

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 20.—With the answer of the United States to its protest in hand, it now devolves upon the Japanese foreign office to take the next step in the negotiations over the California land act.

It is expected that the forthcoming rejoinder to Secretary Bryan will be strongly argumentative and calculated to result in the conduct of the future negotiations on a strictly legal basis.

As it is understood that the state department is losing to the Japanese government or some Japanese citizen to test the new law by recourse to the United States court it may be significant of the drawing of another issue that the Japanese are believed to be reluctant to begin such a movement.

In his protest of May 9 to the state department, the Japanese ambassador is understood to have made it perfectly clear that Japan, finding it impossible to deal directly with the state of California was relying entirely upon the federal government to insure what he believes to be fair treatment for its subjects.

Probably that contention will be extended to cover the legal test of the California land law, though the ordinary procedure in such cases would be to allow a Japanese subject, threatened with escheatment of his lands, to begin action by application for an injunction.

Meanwhile it is expected that several days will elapse before the Japan rejoinder is received, in view of the fact that ten days were taken for the preparation and delivery of the American reply to the original protest.

Secretary Bryan late yesterday afternoon handed Ambassador Chinda the reply of the United States government to the Japanese protest against the California alien land legislation. The ambassador immediately cabled it to Tokio. No intimation as to the nature of the reply was given out.

Upon learning, through press dispatches, that Governor Johnson had signed the Webb land act, Secretary Bryan telephoned Viscount Chinda and invited him to come to the state department to receive the reply which he had been anxiously awaiting since the presentation of his own note, May 9.

When the answer had been delivered the secretary and the ambassador conferred earnestly for an hour regarding the general aspect of the problem. Of course opinions expressed were tentative, as for his part the ambassador felt that he must be guided entirely by the directions of the foreign office at Tokio, and he could only surmise what might be the attitude of the officials at home.

Meanwhile it was understood that both the Japanese protest and the state department's answer would be withheld from publication for the present at least on the ground that it would be injudicious to submit the delicate questions at issue to heated discussion in the newspapers and at possible mass meetings. The negotiations between the two governments are expected to proceed in regular fashion, without further reference to what takes place in California.

Viscount Chinda dispatched the state department's reply to his government, and it is assumed that several days may elapse before the next step is taken.

In view of the understanding between the two governments regarding withholding of the correspondence from publicity none of the officials at the White House, the state department or the Japanese embassy cared to indicate the nature of the Japanese objections or of Secretary Bryan's reply.

Can a Guessing Club Help Me to Win a Prize

One of our lady contestants called at Campaign Headquarters a day or two ago and asked the above question, saying that she had received two letters from a concern in Tennessee, offering to sell her solutions to The Journal prize pictures, basing their claim on experience in former contests.

As The Journal has not selected all of the prize pictures yet, nor has the order for all of them been given to the artist, you can see that their offer to you is misleading. No one except the three Journal employes charged with the responsible duty of selecting titles in this Campaign knows these titles, and each of them knows only the ones that he selects and none of them knows all the titles.

No outside party can possibly have any information on titles to base their claim on selling "so-called" correct solutions, as they have no better way of selecting titles than any of our contestants have.

With the aid of the official catalogue and the good brain God gave you, you are as well equipped to select answers to our prize pictures as any so-called "guessing expert" or "specialist." Use your own brain and exercise your right to extra answers and let the "expert" make a living at some one else's expense and not at your expense.

BLUE AND GRAY VETERANS HOLD INFORMAL REUNION

Open Meeting of Atlanta Camp 159, U. C. V., Was Most Enjoyable Occasion

Fifty years of history were turned back Monday night, when veterans of the blue and gray met together in the senate chamber of the state capitol and fraternized as man to man, without a mark of the old-time feeling, the war times of the sixties.

The occasion was the regular monthly meeting of the Atlanta camp, United Confederate Veterans, No. 159, to which were invited all veterans among the visiting delegates to the assemblies of the Presbyterian church now in session in this city. Many of the visitors had gone over the same battlefields. Some were Confederates and others were Federals.

The meeting was presided over by T. Buchanan, commander of Atlanta camp.

Opening prayer was delivered by Rev. T. P. Cleveland, chaplain of the camp, while Wurm's orchestra furnished music throughout the evening.

Mrs. Albert Spalding, the well known authoress, led the veterans in singing "The Sunny South" and "The Old-Time Confederate," and W. S. Yeates rendered a solo, "The Bugle Call."

Prof. Joseph T. Derry, of the Atlanta camp, delivered the address of welcome. Other speakers were Judge George Hillyer, General Adams, of the Grand Army of the Republic, Minnesota; Rev. Mr. Jones, chaplain of the Grand Army of the Republic, Baltimore, Md., and Dr. E. L. Connally. The benediction was pronounced by Dr. Cleveland.

One of the most interesting accounts told over the "camp fire" was given by General R. N. Adams, of Minnesota, who visits Atlanta for the first time since he left it in ashes when he marched "to the sea" with Sherman.

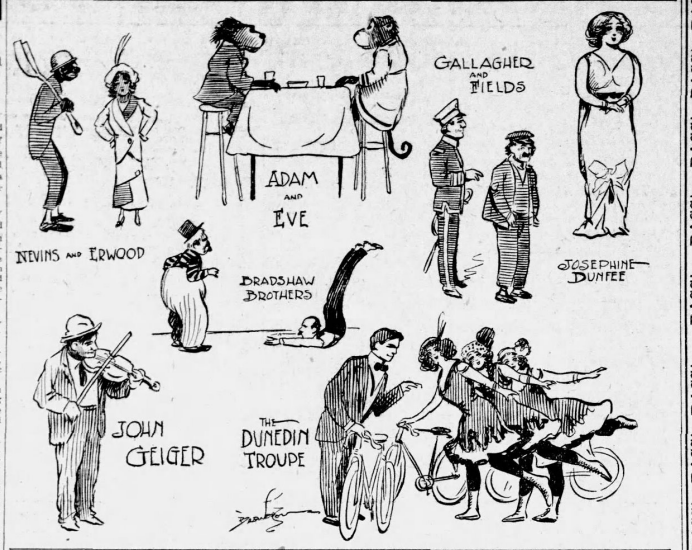
WITH CARTOONIST BREWERTON AT THE FORSYTH



IN LOCAL THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

ATLANTA—"The Deep Purple."
FORSYTH—Vandeville.
BIJOU—Vaudeville and pictures.

Fun and music are scattered through the present week's bill of vaudeville at the Forsyth, and if any one is bored it is because he or she went there with a grouch.

"The silent treatment" is given the audience by the first number, who are two gortesque comedian acrobats. The Bradshaw Brothers biled as "Comedians of Acrobatic Persuasion," have a novel act and a most entertaining one. Some of their contortions and jumping stunts are wonderful, and withal that they are really comical.

Ed Gillett furnishes the headliner with a company of real simians in a monkey show, entitled "Fun in a Bowling Alley." Adam and Eve are featured presumably to support the Darwinian theory. The little monkey and big monkey start a rough house that could hardly be excelled by humans. The monkeys don't howl much, but they have the stage setting all right. The referee is there and the scorer, as well as the "alley boys" and "onlookers." This act is one of the few monkey acts that can make good as a headliner. It made the audience howl with laughter.

Miss Josephine Dunfee has a well trained voice, and sings real music. Also she dresses in keeping with her high class act. Some more music, as well as comedy, is served by John Geiger, an excellent violinist and an actor of humor.

The Dunedin troupe have three lively girls and one young fellow, who give a good bicycle act. The girls put plenty of zinger into their work.

Ed Gallagher and Joe Fields made every one forget what the weather man said about local showers when they turned on their fun spigot in "The Battle of Bay Rum."

Paul Nevins and Ruby Erwood are old friends with vaudeville patrons. They have a new "coon" act, and are as laughable as ever.

"The Deep Purple," which the Billy Long stock company presented to a crowded house at the Atlanta theater Monday night, is an interesting play.

The plot revolves around the efforts of a band of New York crooks to blackmail a wealthy westerner, and the action takes place in little more than twenty-four hours. The blackmailers meet in the house of Frisco Kate, where they lure an innocent country girl and plan to use her as "the fall guy" for their plot.

How Kate reforms and foils the blackmailers' efforts by putting the westerner "wise," and how the intended victim of the plot falls in love with the deluded girl, makes the play an absorbing one. The westerner proves that he is a man bred in "the deep purple," and helps Kate and her friend, a western desperado, to escape to Europe. Although the crude details may sound somewhat like a bloody melodrama, yet the play rises above the standard of a penny thriller, for its purpose is primarily not to thrill but to vindicate the faith of humanity in even reformed crooks and Montana highwaymen.

The present stock company gives a very fair production. One of the most pleasing features of the play is the work of Miss Tinsley Harrison, the Atlanta girl, in the role of Doris, the country girl. She finds here the kind of part exactly suited for her, and she has made the most of her opportunity.

Tabloid musical comedy raced right back home in Atlanta, Monday at the Bijou, when the first of the bookings of this class of entertainment stood the test before four capacity gatherings. In all the history of the famous old theater, there has never been such a success recorded as the hit scored by "A Trip to Joyville," says the management.

It is a good show for 10 cents, and even those who paid another fare for reserved seats, enjoyed "A Trip to Joyville," with its girls, fun makers, music, costumes and scenery. The Bijou has put in a good orchestra, the music sounded good and the audience entered right into the spirit of new things and had a regular good time.

The show is a combination of farce and musical comedy, with several vaudeville features. There are some clever people in the company, and there is music that is in advance of some of the song hits. The show is the sort that fits correctly in a family theater; it is an improvement over what has been offered at the Bijou, and there is every indication that it will attract big attendance all the week. There will be a matinee every afternoon, two on Saturday and two performances each night during the week. Next week the offering will be "Th District Leader," with a new company of twenty entertainers.

since three different reports were before the assembly.

BROKE A GAVEL.

The next motion was to adopt the majority report. Immediately came a motion to amend by adopting minority report No. 1. It was followed by a motion to amend the amendment by adopting minority No. 2. All were duly seconded. Before any motion could be discussed there was a confusing rapid fire of inquiry as to the nature of motions which would be in order, and in the course of it some commissioner appealed from a ruling of the chair. The assembly sustained the chair with only the moving commissioner's vote to the contrary.

In the midst of the confusion and babble of voices, Moderator Stone broke his gavel before he restored sufficient order to announce that it was 12:30 and, therefore, time to adjourn for lunch, which the assembly did, to reconvene at 2:30.

DR. MONFORT'S SPEECH.

The liveliest feature of the discussion Monday afternoon was the speech of Dr. Monfort in support of his majority report, of which he was the only signer.

He emphasized the following points:

That the original constitution of the seminary required every director and member of the faculty to take a vow to maintain the Westminster confession of faith.

That the informal statement of faith by the present directors and faculty, as tendered to the assembly's committee, requires an answer from the assembly, which answer should be a reaffirmation of strictly orthodox Presbyterian doctrine.

That the assembly should direct a committee to insist upon a definite answer from the directors and faculty whether they believe this doctrine, and to urge the directors to reincorporate in the seminary's constitution the above-mentioned original clause.

Finally, that the assembly should urge all Presbyterians not to admit to the ministry any candidate who fails to declare his agreement with all the essential and necessary articles of the Westminster confession.

HE DRAWS THE ISSUE.

"The time has come," declared Dr. Monfort in summing up his arguments, "for this assembly to draw the line. The issue is clearcut and unmistakable. It is an issue between the true faith on the one hand, and on the other hand a Hindu philosophy masquerading in the guise of Christianity."

After all three reports were submitted, Dr. Monfort speaking last, the assembly heard the seminary's side of the matter presented by Dr. Francis Brown, president of the seminary.

It was evident that Dr. Brown felt keenly the attack of Dr. Monfort, but he held himself in restraint and spoke with a calm and quiet dignity.

"Union Theological seminary is a Christian institution founded and now being conducted for training ministers of the gospel," said he, "and it has a practical purpose. If the statement by Dr. Monfort that the seminary is 'an ecclesiastical university' was meant to imply that we spend our time in abstract intellectual discussion, he is very mistaken. The seminary is concerned with putting the spirit of God in men's souls."

The assembly should be willing to assume, Dr. Brown said, that the directors and faculty of the seminary are men of average intelligence, clear moral purpose and sensitiveness.

The assembly should remember that the seminary is not before it in the role of a petitioner, nor has it been summoned before a bar of justice to show its right to be, "although some of the speeches you have heard would indicate that we are," he added.

As to the informal statement of faith by the directors to the committee, Dr. Brown said it was intended as a basis on which the directors and teachers of all varying doctrines could agree, and no more.

"We have Baptists, Methodists and men of several other denominations in the treasury," said he. "We do not claim to be distinctively Presbyterian. The informal statement was meant to show that while we are not distinctively Presbyterian, we are nevertheless evangelical and Christian. The directors were not asked for a distinctively Presbyterian deliverance on their theological views, and probably would not have given one if they had been, for the reasons I have stated."

Dr. Brown had not finished at 6 o'clock, and will therefore be the first speaker when the seminary matter is resumed Tuesday morning.

A man living at Auburn, New York, had a severe attack of kidney and bladder trouble. Being a working man, not wanting to lose time, nor run up a heavy doctor's bill, he cured himself completely by using Foley Kidney Pills. A year later he says: "It is a pleasure to report that the cure was permanent. He had had no return whatever of the pain, backache and burning. His name is J. A. Farmer, and he says: "I cannot too highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a very effective cure for kidney and bladder trouble." For sale by all dealers.—(Advt.)

PYTHIANS LEAVE FOR WAYCROSS MANEUVERS

The first and second regiments, uniform rank Knights of Pythias, will leave for Waycross, Ga., Tuesday night, on a special train over the A. B. & A. railroad, for a two days' encampment there at the K. of P. annual meeting.

Accompanying the regiments are two officers from Fort McPherson, detailed by the war department of the United States army to inspect the Pythians in their maneuvers and pulse drills. These officers are Lieutenant George Byrd and Lieutenant Oliver Snyder.

Colonel Ed L. Humphries is in command of the Second regiment. His men are expected to take some of the laurels away from their fellows in other Georgia cities.

ACTS ON THE LIVER, AND DOESN'T MAKE YOU SICK

Dadson's Liver Tone Livens Up the Liver—Is More Than a Mere Laxative and Better than Calomel

Calomel was for years the chief medicine used to stimulate the liver. But calomel is dangerous, and people are not to be blamed for being afraid of it.

Within the last few years many medicines have been put out to be used instead of calomel, but their effect is on the bowels—not on the liver. The real liver medicine to actually take the place of calomel is Dadson's Liver Tone, a mild, harmless, vegetable liquid that every druggist is glad to guarantee to take the place of calomel and give prompt relief in cases of constipation, biliousness and sluggish liver.

So confident are the druggists who sell Dadson's Liver Tone that they give their personal guarantee with every 50 cent bottle. You can be sure that you are getting Dadson's by asking your druggist if he is giving you the medicine he personally guarantees to refund money on if unsatisfactory. (Advt.)

WOMEN'S MEETINGS CAME TO A CLOSE ON TUESDAY

Sessions Have Been Held Since Thursday—Some of the Exhibits

With meetings Tuesday afternoon at the Central Congregational church, the conference of the Woman's Board of Home and Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., will come to a close.

This, the twenty-fourth annual meeting, has been in progress since Thursday, with morning and afternoon sessions daily, at which mission work has been discussed in all its phases and some of the foremost women workers in this country have addressed the assembly.

The home mission board has been holding its meetings in the main auditorium of the church, the foreign board in the assembly room in the basement.

The exhibits of the foreign board take up the whole lower floor of the building and are some of the most interesting that have ever been shown in Atlanta. Regular meetings of the foreign board came to a close Tuesday morning, but the exhibits may be seen throughout the rest of the week.

Here are strange curios from countries where the mission workers have lived and died, and from all of these with telling effect the progress of the work, religious literature of every description to tell of their vicissitudes and their triumphs and the triumphs of the cause they represent.

One side of the room is almost totally covered by an enormous map of the world, showing the prevailing religions in every country and the progress which Christianity is making in each. On long tables ranged down the length of the room are fantastic exhibits from Africa, Australasia, and the South Seas, a "wife-beater" of some tribal savage placed within a few feet of a pair of tiny slippers from Japan.

Although the exhibits of the foreign board are not the least interesting figure in the assembly, the meetings in the main body of the church under the auspices of the board of home missions have drawn great crowds daily.

There are nearly fifty accredited delegates present, every synod in the United States being represented save two. Besides the regular delegates, hundreds of visiting women have attended every meeting.

Tuesday morning the chief address was by Mrs. D. B. Wells, of Chicago. Mission study was her subject, based on the new mission book which will be used for the study next year. Following an interesting half hour's talk from Mrs. Wells, she was asked hundreds of questions by interested workers in the audience. These were given to her in written form, and in hardly ten minutes she had successfully replied to nearly all of them.

A conference was held following Mrs. Wells' talk between the presidents, secretaries and treasurers, in which methods of mission work, especially the relation between headquarters and officers in the mission field, were discussed.

The morning was ended by the recognition of the life and honorary members constituted during the past year. On payment of $100 at one time a woman may become an honorary member and a life member on payment of $25. Honorary members are accorded special privileges.

The list showed that there are now eighty-five honorary members, all but six of whom have joined during the past year. Pennsylvania leads the list with twenty-five.

The morning session adjourned at 12:30 o'clock.

Tuesday afternoon thetime will be resumed mostly with routine work, this being the closing session of the home board meeting. Reports and resolutions, election and installation of officers will occupy most of the time.

The home board has not yet decided on a president. Mrs. D. E. Wald, of New York, will be elected first vice president, and Mrs. A. S. Crane, of New Jersey, will be chosen second vice president. Other officers will be re-elected.

One feature Tuesday afternoon will be a conference for young people. Some of the topics which will be discussed are "who is responsible for the young people locally, presbyterially, synodically?" Are special rallies for young people advisable? Shall definite apportionments be made the young people? Should gifts from young people be applied on be wor..of the woman's society? ...at are we doing to prepare leaders? Some best methods?

PHAGAN CASE GOES TO THE GRAND JURY IN PRESENT FORM

may be, stated to Dan individual, whose name has not been divulged, that she had heard a conversation of importance in the case.

A man sent to get this information from her, reported that he couldn't get it unless he took her out to dinner, and he wanted the state to pay the bill.

The matter appeared so "fishy" to the officers that it was dropped.

Another conflict in the theory of the authorities that little Mary Phagan never left the pencil factory after she entered the building at noon on the day of the murder to get her pay, developed Tuesday morning in the shape of a letter to The Journal. Mrs. A. A. Smith, of 198 West Peachtree street wrote, declaring that she overheard a remark made on the street following the murder by a girl who professed to have seen the Phagan girl at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, April 26. Her letter follows:

Editor Atlanta Journal:

Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir—On Monday, May 5, 1913, between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, on Whitehall street, in front of J. M. High Co.'s store, I heard three ladies in conversation. One was a rather stout lady, about twenty-five years old, the other two ladies were older. I did not note the appearance of the two older ladies as closely as I did the younger one, for the reason that the younger lady did most of the talking.

These ladies were talking about the Phagan case. The younger one said she did not like the looks of Mr. Frank's picture, but that she believed justice ought to be given to everybody. She said she knew Mary Phagan well and that she saw her on Whitehall street, near Trinity avenue about 4 o'clock on Memorial day, after the parade had ended. One of the other ladies said if she knew that, that she ought to tell it to the authorities.

I was deeply impressed with the sincerity of this young woman and have deeply regretted that in the interest of justice I did not ask her name.

So strongly have I felt upon this subject that I have dared to write this card, asking the ladies referred to in some way communicate with the editor of this paper. I suggest the editor, because I believe that the editor would fairly treat the informant and would see that the information given will be fairly used. I have no possible interest in the Phagan case, except to see justice done. Will you not give this matter such publicity as will bring a reply from the ladies mentioned. Very truly yours,

MRS. C. A. SMITH,
126 W. Peachtree street, Atlanta, Ga.

"BRIEF STATEMENT" BRINGS BIG ROW IN SOUTHERN ASSEMBLY

of bad grammar, bad language and bad theology. Immediately cries for the previous question were heard and the sound of the moderator's gavel could scarcely be heard above the calls.

Dr. W. M. McPheeters was on his feet in an instant.

"It is outrageous," he declared, "that such things could happen in a Presbyterian gathering." His voice was drowned in more calls for the question when, Dr. Clyce acting as moderator finally restored order and announced that the moderator was fully able to cope with the situation.

"We only contend," said Dr. Wells, "that the statement be approved with the amendments and distributed in printed form merely as a tract for the information of church members, and ask the committee on publication to attend to this matter for us."

Dr. Knox, on a point of personal privilege, was again given the floor and made an earnest plea to the assembly to vote down the favorable report of the special committee and continue on the old platform of the church.

At the conclusion of his speech a motion to allow each commissioner five minutes in which to express his views was lost and the arguments continued. In support of the minority, E. L. Wilson, of Oklahoma City, declared that the two catechisms of the church were sufficient for a brief statement and that no other form was necessary.

Supporting the committee's report several ministers and commissioners declared their belief that the brief statement would prove of great value to the poorer classes and make plain to them the doctrines of the church in its condensed form.

DR. STRICKLER SPEAKS.

There were calls for Dr. G. B. Strickler, of Union seminary, to deliver an address on the statement expressing his view thoroughly on the question. By a vote of 90 to 51 the assembly decided in favor of Dr. Strickler speaking on this question for an unlimited period at the afternoon session.

DROPS WORD POPULAR.

The brief statement as presented to the assembly by the committee drops the word "popular" in the caption and reads as follows:

"A brief statement drawn from the standards of the Presbyterian church in the United States." Originally it stood, "A brief popular statement of the belief of the Presbyterian church in the United States."

Only a minor change is made in the first paragraph of the statement. The second, however, has been changed to read as follows:

"The scriptures of the old and new Testaments written by men inspired by the holy spirit are the word of God. They are the revelation of God's will for man and of man's duty to God, and are the only infallible and authoritative rule of faith and life."

SOME MORE CHANGES.

There is one minor change in paragraphs seven, ten and twelve.

Paragraph eight, "Christ the Redeemer," has been changed to read as follows:

"The Lord Jesus Christ, being the eternal Son of God, became truly man, being conceived by the Holy Ghost and born of the Virgin Mary, yet without sin, so that he is both God and man, and the only perfect mediator between God and man, by whom alone we can come unto the Father." The remainder of this paragraph remains intact.

Following the discussion on the committee's report, Dr. Clyce said that he understood that Dr. R. S. Reed, one of the original committee named to prepare the statement, would action to with the amendments despite the fact that he did not put his name on the original. This Dr. Reed confirmed amid applause.

Champions of the report, who are greatly in the majority, are confident that the address of Dr. Strickler during the afternoon will throw new light on the matter and put an end to all debate that marred the tranquility of the morning session.

Under the agreement of the two factions the question goes to a vote immediately following this speech.

At 12:30 the conference adjourned until 2:30 o'clock.

COMMITTE REPORTS

Lengthy committee reports submitted to the assembly on Monday and read into the minutes, occupied the first half hour of the session following the usual devotional service from 9 until 9:15 o'clock a. m.

The regular announcements of Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, called special attention to the midday meetings at the Grand opera house under the direction of Dr. Boeddeker. He urged all who could do so to attend these gatherings, and lend their hearty support to this phase of the assemblies.

The second manifestation of the good will of the United Presbyterian church toward an organic union with the Presbyterian church in the United States came shortly after the opening of the session when Dr. George McCormick, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Salenas, Cal., was recognized by the moderator as a fraternal delegate from the United assembly.

SPEAKS UPON UNION

Dr. McCormick referred directly to the proposed union of the two bodies and to the report on the "basis of union," prepared by a joint committee from the two assemblies and adopted by both with the provision that action be deferred for a year.

In expressing the greetings of his church, the speaker declared that he believed the union all-but completed. He likened the matter to an old Scotch story in which the swain explained to the anxious maid that he intended to wed her but was "not quite through with the courting."

"That is just the position on our part," said Dr. McCormick, "the union of these two great Christian bodies is sure to come, but we are not quite through with our courtship."

He made direct reference to the action of the Southern Presbyterians in declining to appoint an "ad interim committee" to confer with certain other committees toward a union with several western presbyteries, and expressed the appreciation of the united church that their overtures would be considered.

FRATERNITY ACKNOWLEDGED.

Dr. McCormick was received warmly and answered by Dr. J. S. Lyons, the moderator, who expressed the same fraternal feelings for the other branch of the church.

A further incident of the feeling of good fellowship among the three branches of the church was brought out in a request through Dr. Lyons from Dr. J. T. Stone, moderator of the northern church, that a special prayer be offered for the guidance of the several general assemblies.

MORE MINISTERS WANTED BY THE U. P. ASSEMBLY

United Presbyterians Spent the Morning With Routine Committee Business

The United Presbyterian assembly spent the entire morning Tuesday in the routine of committee reports which were read with little comment and without exception adopted by viva voce vote.

The only diversion from the routine was an attempt, later withdrawn, by Dr. John A. Henderson to have the question as to which board should handle the Sabbath school work referrred to a special committee.

The assembly had wrangled over this question for two hours the afternoon before and apparently had no desire to reopen the discussion.

Dr. David F. McGill, principal clerk, declared that he "wished the mattter could be forgotten right here."

PROVIDE FOR DR. EMILEY.

Dr. L. W. Williamson said some provision should be made for Mr. W. B. Smiley, whose office of secretary of the Sabbath school board was abolished by the action of the assembly Monday afternoon. The moderator pointed out that the assembly had not dismissed Dr. Smiley; that his office had simply been abolished, and that the matter was apparently satisfactorily settled.

Dr Henderson was warmly applauded when he withdrew his resolution and the assembly settled again into routine work.

The keynote of the session was plead by the committees on theological seminaries and the committee on visitation of the colleges for more theological students. There was a deplorable decrease, it was stated, in the number of young men studying for the ministry.

These reports were adopted with little discussion, however, also those of the committees on education and women's board.

REPORT ON WOMEN'S BOARD.

The report on women's board showed that during the past year the women have sent out the largest party of unbelieved women missionaries in the history of the church; that "our thank offering is the largest in our history; that every department of the work is gradually progressing, and the year closes without a deficit."

The assembly heard inspiring addresses by Mrs. Ada Kerr Wilson and Mrs. H. C. Campbell, representing the board.

DESERTED BY FATHER AND WITH MOTHER IN ALMS HOUSE, TINY BLIND GIRL NEEDS ASSISTANCE

Associated Charities Appeals Through Journal for Funds With Which to Provide for Unfortunate Little Tot Until She Is Old Enough to Enter State Institution

Does the thought of an exceptionally bright little girl, only three years old, who is totally and incurably blind, who has been deserted by her father, and whose mother is in the almshouse, appeal to you?

This little girl is now in the keeping of the Associated Charities and they are appealing for her through The Journal for the necessary funds to place her in an institution for the care of blind children until she is old enough to be received by the Georgia State Asylum for the Blind. She must be seven years of age to enter there.

For $300 a year she can be placed in an institution where she will receive the best medical attention and the best mental, moral and physical training and care.

She is a child with a particularly bright mind and with the proper training can be developed into a capable, self-supporting woman. The Associated Charities vouch for the deservedness of this case and want one or more persons to take care of the amount necessary to save this helpless little child. This would be a more lasting memorial than any that could be built.

This child must be taken care of by the Associated Charities for four years, and the investment of a few hundred dollars in this cause will pay untold dividends.

Won't you, who are more fortunate, or you who have suffered, help this pitiful little child?

Send the amount of your investment to J. C. Logan, secretary Associated Charities, Gould building, Atlanta.

NEW UNDERTAKING CO. BEGINS BUSINESS HERE

A. O. and Roy Donehoo Open Funeral Parlors on Marietta Street

Another undertaking establishment has been started in Atlanta by the Donehoo brothers, who are well known in Atlanta, having been engaged in business here for a number of years.

Handsomely equipped funeral parlors have just been opened by A. O. and Roy Donehoo at 99 Marietta street, just across from the First Presbyterian church.

The building occupied by this company was erected especially for funeral parlors. The chapel is spacious and shaped like a cathedral; the office and reception parlors are large, airy, comfortable and homelike; the display room carries with it a fine line of caskets.

The members of the new company are E. A. Donehoo, president; Roy Donehoo, vice president, and A. O. Donehoo, secretary and treasurer. These men are all too well and favorably known in Atlanta to need any introduction.

The new company will maintain a private ambulance service and will furnish flowers, carriages and other incidentals to a modern funeral directing business.

How a Business Leader Views Business Conditions.

"There is no threatening cloud in the business atmosphere of the United States."

These are the words of James J. Hill, known throughout America for his discernment and leadership in large affairs. In an interview recently published in the Washington Post, Mr. Hill presents a remarkable array of facts, showing the sweep and soundness of the nation's prosperity. He dwells upon the progress of agriculture and the expansion of industries; the one, he declares, is being quickened by scientific methods of farming and the other encouraged and rendered more profitable by efficient methods of production. The demand for farm labor continues to grow and our systems of transportation are taxed to the utmost to meet increasing traffic needs. It is not so much the specific facts he mentions, however, as the conclusions which he, a trained and cool observer of business prospects, has reached that is significant. The Post aptly remarks:

"To our financiers, our manufacturers, our merchants, to business men of every class and to the general public, the words of Mr. Hill should be of infinite value and afford them much satisfaction."

The truth is there is no echo of business apprehension today save that which comes from inspired sources. The rank and file of the people, whatever their field of occupation may be, are moving steadily forward in a spirit of confidence and cheer. The forthcoming reduction of the tariff and other laws designed to make our economic life more free and stable are interpreted in their true purpose and measured by their logical consequence. What few calamity howlers there are find as little response as reason for their sour temper.

Continuing our vein of optimism, we predict that the peach crop will be 100 per cent.

Prof. Taft may be depended on not to do anything radical at Yale, such as changing the Yale yell.

The nations need have no worry. The London Times has expressed itself on the Japanese question.

The Tariff Bill Moves Forward in the Senate.

The defeat of the Republican amendment, seeking to reopen public hearings on the tariff bill now before the Senate, is a happy omen for the progress and the ultimate triumph of this important administration measure. The vote in this instance goes to show that though the issue is closely drawn, the majority of the Senate Democrats are standing stanchly by the President and by their party's faith. Only two Democrats, the Senators from Louisiana, voted with the Republicans, and their defection is easily explained. It has never been expected that they would support a bill which provides for an immediate reduction and the future removal of duties on sugar.

The effort to reopen hearings before the finance committee of the Senate was unwarranted by common sense or fair play. The ways and means committee of the House spent long weeks in listening to all interests that had any claims or suggestions to present. Protests, based upon new evidence, may very properly be submitted, but there is no need or occasion for repeating in tedious detail work that has already been thoroughly done in the House; and it was the transparent purpose of those who insisted upon rehearings simply to delay the progress of the tariff bill.

The vote on this particular question may be regarded as an indication of what the final line-up will be. The fact that it stood forty-one to thirty-six shows that the balance of Progressive Democratic power, though none too strong, is sufficient to carry the measure through, if the party ranks remain loyal. That this will be the case, there is little reason to doubt; for, though the administration bill is opposed by particular interests, it is supported by the people as a whole.

President Wilson is for tariff revision—all wool and a yard wide.

The English-Commercial High School Vital Need.

If there is one particular need above all others which the finance committee of Council should consider in making up the June apportionment sheet, it is that of a safe and commodious building for the Girls' English Commercial High School.

This institution, which plays so vital a part in Atlanta's educational life, is now quartered in flimsy wooden buildings that are not only inadequate to care for the school's increasing enrollment, but are also a menace to the safety of the students. Indeed, these conditions are such that Council can ill afford to take the responsibility of what might happen, if they are permitted to continue. The school is held in three separate houses which were designed as dwellings for families of average size and which are entirely without those safeguards that should be provided for a public institution. Should a fire or a panic break out in the . . . quarters of this school, the result might be unspeakably terrible.

But aside from dan. . . these makeshift houses are wholly inadequate to meet the school's growth. It is conservatively reckoned that unless larger quarters are provided, the school will have to turn away at the opening of its next term between seventy-five and a hundred young women. Surely, Council and the finance committee will not suffer such an injustice to the city's homes and its highest interests!

The English Commercial High School has grown wondrously since its establishment a few years ago. Its attendance has shown the insistent and widespread demand for just such practical and constructive education as it affords; and the brilliant success of its graduates shows the character of the work it is doing.

Such an institution should not be stinted; certainly it should not be denied its right to a safe and suitable building of its own. It should be encouraged in every possible way and should be supported as liberally as the city's means will permit. It is as unbusinesslike as unfair to continue to cramp this school in outworn houses which the city does not own and on which it may not be able to renew its present lease. In the course of a few years, the rental paid for these makeshift quarters would suffice to build a handsome and suitable structure.

There is this further and important fact to be considered: Last year thirty thousand dollars was appropriated for an English Commerical High School building, but later it was withdrawn partly because of the city's financial stringency and partly, too, because it was realized that that amount would not be sufficient to provide a fire-proof building, the only kind that should be erected. In January, the school was promised a reapportionment of this amount plus an additional sum. It is the clear duty of the finance committee to provide for this urgent need.

The Peace Centennial.

Divers plans are being made both in Great Britain and America for a worthy commemoration of the hundred years of peace that will soon have forged their golden ties between the two great families of English speaking people. Such a centennial certainly demands due and hearty observance, for it is more eloquent in its meaning and more fruitful in its results than any battle which might have broken its concord. Furthermore, it is a goodly omen of perpetual friendship; as Mr. Carnegie recently said, "It is a peace that is likely to endure through all the centuries to come."

Among the more formal programs to be carried out in this connection is that which looks to the erection of two monuments described by the New York Times as "identical in design, one at Washington and one at London; the cornerstones will be laid at the same moment by the President of the United States and the King, with a brief cessation of all business simultaneously in both countries."

It is also suggested that Niagara river be spanned with a memorial bridge and that the Dominion and the States be similarly linked at other points. Tablets will doubtless be erected at various historic spots in America and England and on the day set aside for the commemoration patriotic meetings will be held in both countries.

The most vital of all witnesses to these hundred years of peace are the hearts of the English and the American people themselves, who are one today in sympathy with the ideals and in loyalty to the high mission of the great stock from which they both are sprung.

THE INCOME TAX

XII. THE TAX IN ENGLAND.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Nowhere else in the world is there afforded a better picture of the operation of the income tax than in England. In its present general shape it has been levied for a period of nearly three-quarters of a century, and during that time the natural objections to such a tax have been on the wane until it has now become a part of the permanent fiscal policy of the United Kingdom. The tax is now levied on incomes aggregating nearly $9,000,000,000. There are those who complain about it and inveigh against it, some going as far as to say that it is the most humiliating tax ever put upon a generous nation, others that it possesses a maze of averages and bases of calculation that make it a sealed book to any lay mind and still others who assert that there is infrequently anything about its administration that is creditable and often much that is tyrannical. But the general verdict seems to be that the tax is a necessary evil and about as satisfactory as one could reasonably expect.

Perhaps the most influential element in freeing it from general complaint is the fact that the original assessment of the tax is made by non-salaried representatives of the local gentry. The people have confidence in these men, and feel that they are, in a sense, their own representatives. They are largely circumscribed as to their duties, and their work is carefully checked up by the representatives of the British treasury. This combination of centralization and local rule prevents any charges of bureaucracy on the one hand and any loss of revenue by assessments made too low on the other.

By utilizing a happy system of choosing what are known as additional commissioners from the ranks of the business community for the purpose of assisting in the assessment of the tax, the co-operation of the business community is secured, and but little trouble is experienced in securing proper assessment of business incomes. Another striking phase of the administration of the British income tax laws is the absence of inquisitorial procedure. The British authorities steer a middle course between the laxity that makes a law more honored in its breach than in its observance, on the one hand; and the rigidity of enforcement that defeats its own purpose, on the other. The British authorities aim to collect all possible income taxes at their source rather than to allow them to go into the hands of the taxpayer and be accounted for by him. For instance, here is a man who has an income of 10,000 pounds which comes as dividend earnings in some utility corporation; the government's share of that income is deducted from the payments before they are made. That is taxation at the source, and it seems to bear down more easily upon the taxpayer than if he had to reach down in his pocket and pay it.

The British government has kept the tax down to about 6 per cent, and most British citizens are represented as willing to pay a shilling a pound on their income. The British income tax laws of today do not burden all classes of income alike. They assume that not every sort of income is equally well able to bear the same burden of taxation, so there has come about a system of differentiation which meets these objections, imposing the heaviest taxes upon those incomes most able to bear them, and the lightest taxes upon those incomes least able to meet them. As it became evident that great incomes were being built up it began to be generally felt that the man with a 10,000 pound income was able to pay a higher rate than the man with 500 pound income, and so the supertax was brought in. Thus has England gone forward grafting onto the old tree all the new branches that progress demanded, until today her income tax laws meet English conditions and adjust the burdens of taxation in a generally satisfactory way.

It is interesting to follow the present high development of the income tax system in England during the past quarter of a century, or since it became a permanent national policy. Before that time there had been a constant improvement in methods of administration as a result of an unremitting effort to correct all unsatisfactory conditions, but the great improvements perhaps date from the early 90's. At that time there arose a demand for a graduation of incomes, a demand rather general, resisted by statesmen. One step after another in the improvement of the law was taken, some affording abatements on small incomes, others having to do with fraud, savings bank accounts, and the like, until finally, in 1907 Chancellor Asquith came out flatfootedly for a system of differentiation. He compared two men, each with an income of 2,000 pounds, the one deriving his from a a perfectly safe investment and the other from a precarious profession and declared that to say that each should pay the same tax was to fly into the face of justice and common sense. He thought that incomes ought to be divided into two classes, earned and unearned incomes, the one representing the personal labor of the taxpayer and the other a simple sitting still and allowing the money to come in.

With the necessity of securing additional revenues to finance the old age pensions scheme before them, the British authorities were forced to consider a plan of income tax graduation in the shape of a levy of a higher rate upon all incomes in excess of 5,000 pounds. This is assessed in the shape of a supertax of 6 pence per pound. Since this system of graduation has been adopted the rates of taxation vary with the ability of the persons taxed to pay. In the first place, any Britisher with an income of less than 160 pounds has his tax abated. Those who have incomes up to 500 pounds are entitled to a small rebate on account of their children below the age of sixteen. Those who have earned incomes up to 2,000 pounds pay 8 pence per pound on their incomes, and those who get 2,000 pounds a year pay a shilling a pound. All unearned incomes pay a shilling. 2 pence a pound up to 5,000 pounds a year. Those who reach and exceed that limit must pay a supertax of 6 pence on every pound of income they have in excess of 3,000 pounds. All persons having an income between the point of exemption, which is placed at 160 pounds, and 700 pounds, get certain abatements, so that the tax increases as the income rises between these two points.

"Is there any suffragette in the world," the mayor continues, "who would not give up her principles for a nice man?" . . . Not so loud, suffs.

THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPYS.

May 14.—To my office betimes and all the morning at petty business and thence home to luncheon of eggs and bacon and asparagus and apple-sauce and two cups of coffee, which was Gretchen's fault, for when I do ask her for one cup, she breweth ever four or five cups, recking not of the cost of such things, poor wretch, nor have I heart to chide her for her folly. With Mr. Crusenberry the Chicago scrivener to the tennis-court, and played 4 setts, but he unlucky and out of practice, so I did defeat him. Mr. Kelton told me how that Mr. Upton Sinclair would play with me and lower my pride and I told K. when it pleaseth him soever. To the ballpark with Mistress Heloise and we made a wager, a tye against a hat-pinne, on the game. I did wager that the Cubs would win and she the Giants and we did see the wildest game ever I saw, and much bad playing, such as I like to see, by both teams. But the Giants did win by 14 runs to 11, and I must remember to buy H. a hat-pinne. Home to dinner, where are come C. Galge and Mistress Hilda, and thenafter in C.'s new petroleum-wag*gon all to Coney Island, the first time ever I was* there, and Hilda and I did ride upon all the perilous railways together and I enjoyed it, too, but I believe them dangerous and silly, and would fain have them done away with by law. H. did have her palm read, and the palmist thought me her husband.

15.—News to-day of the conviction of Quinlan in Paterson, which methought unjust, but I do feel out of sympathy with his organization. I fear there may be dire things to happen in this land or ever another ten years be sped. To the ballpark and met there Mont Glass the tayle-writer and did walk home with him and he shewed me his new harpsichord. That, quoth he, or a petroleum-waggon; and a harpsichord hath no blowouts, nor doth it run into children. Which was true talk. Home for dinner and thereafter to my scrivening, but all the evening my new neighbor played upon the spinet songs and melodies, horrid ones, but well played, and I had liefer to listen than to work, so I did listen untill my bedtime, which is early. Read this night a new fable of Mr. Ade's, full of brightness, in especiall where he saith, There is always room and board at the top.

Decisive Battles

The present celebration of the sixteenth centenary of the conversion of Constantine leads to some literary reflections:

"Creasy's "Fifteen Decisive Battles" seems to resemble the various best lists of authors we read of from time to time—they always arouse criticism by some serious omission. It will be recalled that the "Five Foot Shelf" of what, in a great educator's mind, were the best imaginable books in English was found deficient in that it omitted both the Bible and Shakespeare. A few inches added to the shelf would have been a good thing in the minds of many.

The "Fifteen Battles" would have been quite as euphonious had it been called the "Sixteen" and had it included the battle of the Milvian Bridge in 312 A. D., where tradition declares that Constantine saw in the heavens the luminous cross which bade him conquer "In This Sign." Surely the giving of Europe and eventually America to Christianity was, to say the least, quite as important as the battles which saved Europe from Persian despotism or the later one which gave western Europe to Latin rather than Greek supremacy, or any other named in the book. However great the consequences of others, none exceeded this in its results. Sins of omission are as bad as those of commission.—From a Letter in the New York Times.

WHAT TO DO

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

A very great and wise man came to America. His fame was such that all the nation believed that to follow his advice in anything would bring success.

So all the legislatures of all the states elected representatives to meet at Washington and ask him what to do.

When they had gathered together he asked them, "What do you want most?"

They answered, "To get rid of crime and criminals, to stop the social evil, to abolish our slums, to clean our states and cities of poverty."

"Very well," he replied. "It will take thirty-three years, or one generation, but if you will faithfully do as I say you will certainly succeed."

Whereupon there was loud applause and exulting; and they said: "Tell us what to do, and upon our lives and honor we will most surely do it."

"I will tell you a week from today," he responded.

This he said in order that the enthusiasts who had ideas of reforming the people might make their suggestions.

And they came to him post haste, all sorts. Preachers and priests came, saying they hoped he would say to give more money to churches and have grand revivals and get everybody converted. All kinds of political and economical apostles besieged him; single taxers, Socialists, anarchists, progressives and prohibitionists, and all had their say.

But upon the set day he arose before the delegates and said:

"All the plans you have proposed to me have their good points, but all have a fatal weak spot, which is that they deal with ADULTS.

"I do not propose to bother with them. They will all be dead anyhow in a few years. Besides, what you do with one adult crop of people must be done anew with the next. It is a fool way of trying to improve the race. Hence, go on as you are now doing. It is the best you know and will last your time. Sixty years from now, when your children and grandchildren are at the helm of things, all your reform programs will fade away useless.

"This is what to do: First, enlarge your public school system until it provides for the free education and ECONOMIC SUPPORT of all the population under twenty.

"Second, to raise money for this cause the state to be an equal partner in every concern or with every individual who has a hundred thousand dollars, one-half the profits or income to go to the state to support its children.

"Third, so reform your public schools that the children therein shall be taught HOW TO LIVE; that is, first of all, moral character, including honesty, cleanliness, the value of truth, and of courage to tell and live the truth.

"Train them in politics. Let the schools be as democratic as the nation. Do not govern the children. Teach them how to govern themselves. Let it be ground into every girl and boy that it is disgraceful not to take an active part in the organization of the ward, city, state and nation.

"Just pay due attention to one generation of children and it will save you a hundred years' labor with adults."

This plan being so simple the delegates felt their intelligence insulted and said: "What! And did we come here to be told about children?" Also the reformers and institution-job-holders cried out upon him. The upshot of it all was that they seized the man and threw him into a madhouse.

TRAGIC TALE.

Oh, list to the tale of a lover's woes—
This tragic, as you shall see—
The hopeless love for a rubber rose
Of a wandering honey bee!

The bee was busy at this and that—
Such things as bees often do—
When suddenly on a woman's hat
The rose came into view.

Said the smitten bee: "Oh, lovely bloom!
There's honey within your heart;
Behold, I'm a chemist bee, than whom
None better is at his art!"

Then he sank his face in the flower's breast—
Then hastily he backed out,
And his legs to his fevered brow he pressed
In an agony of doubt.

"I am sure you look like a rose," he said;
"Oh, rare and beautiful liar!
But your odor gives me an aching head
And you taste like a motor tire!"

Then sadly himself on a leaf he laid
And gave up the ghost with a sob.
As he said: "Here's the end of the honey trade—
The styles have destroyed my job!"

BEER SALES C. O. D. ARE LEGALIZED BY COUNCIL

City Fathers Remedy an Obvious Defect—Other Matters Are Considered

What council did at its regular meeting Monday afternoon:

Passed, over Mayor Woodward's veto, the report of the investigating committee exonerating Chief Cummings and the fire department from charges of alleged "graft" made by the mayor.

Sustained the mayor's veto of the ordinance which would have required all dogs not on private property or not accompanied by someone to wear muzzles.

Adopted the resolution of the street committee fixing the grades for Whitehall street and intersecting crossings, where street improvements will be made soon.

Adopted a resolution by which ten members of council and five citizens will investigate the advisability of a bond issue.

Adopted an ordinance allowing near-beer dealers to send out bottled beer to customers c. o. d.

Adopted a resolution appointing James R. Gray, Clark Howell, Robert F. Maddox and W. F. Winecoff a committee to consider the plans for closing the Forsyth street underpass and, if possible, to hurry the work.

There was referred to the ordinance committee, following a heated discussion by Mayor Pro Tem James E. Warren and Alderman James R. Nutting, an ordinance introduced by Mr. Nutting, which invests the heads of the various city departments with the authority to nominate their subordinates subject to approval of the department boards.

The introduction of this ordinance precipitated a wordy war.

ANY POLITICS IN IT?

Mayor Pro Tem Warren declared that the ordinance was merely a political move and that at the present time, when the police board is standing six and six on a question of appointment, it would not be wise for council to step in and decide the question.

"It would be like stepping in between two little boys fighting," declared Mr. Warren, "and spanking one of them. We can't take up this question and say to six of the board, 'you're right,' and say to the other six 'you're wrong.'"

Alderman Nutting retorted that he considered Mr. Warren's speech "a remarkable one."

"I think Mr. Warren had better pray over it a little bit before voting on it," declared the alderman. "He will find that this ordinance is meant to eliminate politics and is not a political move. It is already true of every department of the city that the head nominates his man and the board rejects or approves. Why shouldn't we have it a law? This ordinance will make the heads of the departments real heads, in name as well as in fact."

The ordinance was referred to the ordinance committee.

ONE VETO UPHELD; ANOTHER DOWNED.

The two vetoes of Mayor Woodward came up for consideration immediately after council went into session. The message of the mayor in regard to the report of the fire committee was read. Although some members of the council took the stand that this message was merely a communication and not a veto, it was decided to regard it as the latter.

Following a speech by Councilman Charles W. Smith, in which he praised the work of the investigating committee and declared that they would have conducted the probe for a year if it had been necessary to get all the information, council passed the report of the committee by unanimous vote, thus overriding the mayor's veto.

Every member of council, save Alderman McClelland and Councilman Knight, who were not present, voted for the resolution.

The dog-muzzling ordinance, which Mayor Woodward vetoed on the ground that it repealed all other dog laws in the city, came up for vote again. City Attorney Mason gave as his ruling on the ordinance that it did not affect the dog tax ordinance, the dog wagon ordinance or any other dog ordinance in any way; but the vote then showed that the mayor's veto had been sustained, nineteen voting for the ordinance and nine against. A two-thirds vote is required to override a veto.

The resolution of the street committee fixing the grade of the Whitehall street improvement project and favoring the apportionment of $47,248 in the June sheet, was passed and referred to the finance committee. According to the report of the street committee, the work will cost about $120,000, to be paid in three years, the work starting next October, provided the finance committee approves the resolution.

BOTTLED BEER C. O. D.

By a vote of 17 to 3 an ordinance was adopted by which near-beer dealers can send out bottled beer C. O. D., a practice which was formerly illegal, according to a ruling which City Attorney Mayson recently gave for Judge Brayles. The new ordinance will prohibit the peddling of near-beer on the streets, however.

Councilman Albert Thomson introduced a resolution urging council to authorize the appointment of a committee composed of ten members of council and five citizens, to look into the advisability of a bond issue. It was adopted, and Mayor Pro Tem. Warren will appoint the committee within the next few days. It is proposed to hold public sessions of the committee in order that any citizens who may want to be heard from on the bond issue question can give their views to the committee.

Two resolutions were referred to the finance committee, one introduced by Councilman Orville H. Hall, urging an appropriation in the June sheet of $50,000 for street improvement, and another, introduced by Councilman Thomas I. Lynch, asking the finance committee to appropriate $1,500 to give the prisoners at the city stockade better food.

A petition signed by about 500 citizens and tax payers of the Fifth ward, urging the appropriation of $60,000 in Davis Street school, was referred to the the June sheet for the improvement of finance committee.

WILL ASK COUNCIL FOR OPEN-AIR SCHOOL FUND

Committee to Urge $2,000 Appropriation That Is Needed Badly

For the third time Wednesday a committee representing the Atlanta Anti-Tuberculosis association will go before the finance committee of council to urge upon it the importance of making a small appropriation to establish the first open air school in Atlanta.

Last December the children of the public schools in Atlanta raised $1,000 toward this fund by selling the Red Cross Christmas seals. This $1,000 is in the bank, set apart to be used for no other purpose except the establishment of an open air school. The committee is asking the city council to add $2,000 to this fund, making a total of $3,000, with which to establish the first real open air school in Atlanta.

It is proposed to establish this school at some other convenient place, and to use it for the segregation and instruction of children who may be predisposed to tubercular troubles. It is not contemplated to admit to this school children who actually are suffering with the disease, but only those whose condition is such as to make them easily susceptible to it.

The increase in the number of cases of this sort in the past year has been very large, and it is said that there are now practically 1,000 children in Atlanta who are being deprived of educational facilities because their physical condition does not permit of their attendance upon the enclosed schools.

The matter will be presented to the finance committee of council by a strong delegation, and council will also be asked to make provision in the future for open air school rooms in connection with each of the new schools which may be built.

of education, Rev. Dr. Joseph Wilson Cochran, and others, made moving appeals for fathers to give their sons to the work of the gospel ministry.

Last year was the greatest in the history of the U. S. A. church, according to the stated clerk, who announced that the number of accessions by confession of faith was the largest ever reached.

Of the many side issues of the assemblies, nothing is more interesting than the exhibits in the lower halls of the meeting places, of the work of the various boards. Here are pictures, charts, and literature of all sorts, revealing the varied forms of activities of these churches all round the world. Half an hour spent in tohe social service display in the lower Tabernacle is a real education in the modernization of Christian work. One can learn more about the labor question, the immigration question, the liquor question, the rural church problem, and the city problem through these graphic charts, than by a twelve months of casual readings. They reveal, what may never be lost sight of, that this assembly is, after all, a conference for legislation and administration in behalf of practical service by the church to the world.

resort. Mr. Flagler built the Florida East Coast railroad and erected the Ponce de Leon and Alcazar hotels at a cost of $2,000,000.

His greatest achievement, however, was the extension of his railroad from Miami to Key West. For many years his plan was ridiculed as impracticable, and was called "Flagler's folly." The opening of this "over seas" line is listed as one of the engineering triumphs of the age.

Mr. Flagler was vice president and director of the Standard Oil company; president of the Florida East Coast railway and Jacksonville Terminal company and other corporations.

At Mr. Flagler's bedside were his son, Harry, who arrived yesterday from Europe, the Rev. Dr. George Morgan, his pastor, who will conduct the fuperal services at St. Augustine.

FAVOR CO-OPERATION IN WORK AMONG NEGROES

Executive Committee's Recommendation Will Go Before Assemblies During the Day

The executive committee of the council of the reformed churches in America, including all branches of Presbyterian faith, went on record Monday as favoring co-operation in work among negroes.

Each reformed church at present has its own mission in a locality. The executive committee, however, after hearing Dr. J. S. Lyons, moderator of the southern Presbyterian assembly, called a session which went on record in favor of co-operation.

Dr. W. J. Darby, of Evansville, Ind., secretary of the council, made a strong plea for co-operation.

The recommendation of the committee will come up before the assemblies some time during Tuesday, and there is said to be little doubt of its formal adotion.

CHILD DIES OF BURNS AT PLAY WITH MATCHES

Little Emily Wyatt's Death Second in Family in Few Weeks

Emily Louise Wyatt, the 2 1-2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wyatt, died Monday night shortly after 11 o'clock from burns she received while playing with a box of matches. She and her little sister were alone in the nursery of their home Monday morning when the tragedy happened.

The mother and neighbors heard the children screaming. When they reached the scene they found little Emily in flames, while her frightened sister was screaming nearby for help. The older sister had attempted to stamp out the flames with her tiny hands, which were painfully burned. A physician was summoned for the suffering child and everything possible was done to save its life. The death was the second in the family within the past few weeks, as the baby, just a year old, was buried last month.

The body was removed to the chapel of Greenberg & Bond Co. and prepared for burial. The funeral will take place from the residence Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and Rev. W. E. Hill will officiate.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Miller entertained a number of friends at luncheon Tuesday at the Piedmont Driving club.

A plateau of sweet peas formed the center of the table, the place cards were painted with sprays of the pretty blossoms, and the ices and bonbons continued a color suggestion of pink and white.

Sixteen friends were guests of the occasion.

To Miss Turner

Mrs. Louis Magid entertained informally at tea Monday afternoon at the Driving club in compliment to Miss Ada Turner, whose marriage to Mr. De Bruyn Kops will take place June 4 in Savannah.

Pink sweet peas were used as decorations, and all the details were in pink and white.

Miss Stephens Entertains

Miss Nan Stephens' lovely tea this afternoon was in compliment to Miss Ada Turner, whose marriage to Mr. William de Bruyn Kops will be an event of June 4, and to Miss Muriel Hall, whose wedding to Mr. Louis Turner will take place in June also.

The attractive home of the hostess in Druid Hills was adorned for the occasion with many roses and green plants. In the library and music rooms the bookshelves and mantels were banked with wild red and white roses and white daisies. In the drawing room pink and white roses were artistically arranged in vases and bowls, and in the dining rooms pink and white were again used. The roses were massed in a graceful bronze basket in the center of the table, and in the empire candle shades, the mints and ices the pretty rose tint was repeated.

Mrs. Lyman Hall, Mrs. J. D. Turner, Mrs. John C. Turner, Mrs. William Comer, Miss Anne Mitchell, Miss Marian Woodward and Miss Fannie Turner assisted in entertaining, and Miss Grace Stephens and Miss Daisy Martin served punch.

The hostess wore a becoming gown of pale blue crepe over rose-colored satin, trimmings of lace adding a touch of beauty to the gown.

Miss Turner's gown was of white lace draped over white satin. The folds were held in place by buckles of tiny roses and forget-me-nots, and the rose-colored girdle and sash lent a pretty note of color.

Miss Hall wore a gown of white crepe, embroidered with blue. The corsage was of shadow lace, and a girdle of blue completed the pretty effect.

Miss Parks' Tea

Miss Aline Parks was hostess at a pretty 5 o'clock tea this afternoon, the event being in compliment to her guest, Miss Louise Downer, of Hopkinsville, Ky., and to her mother's guest, Mrs. J. T. John, of North Carolina.

The house was attractively decorated for the occasion with quantities of garden flowers and woodland blossoms, the jagged robins, honeysuckle and wild azalea were used in artistic profusion. The centerpiece for the table in the dining room was a tall vase of half-opened white rosebuds.

Mrs. George Noble, Mrs. W. M. Zerkle, Mrs. F. G. Byrd, Mrs. J. W. Stubbs, Mrs. F. P. Boykin and Mrs. John W. Moore assisted the hostess in entertaining.

Miss Jane Stanfield, Miss Margaret Armstrong, Miss Florence Duggee, Miss Mildred Noble, Miss Ethel Noble, Mrs. John Means Daniel and Mrs. Lucius McConnell also assisted.

Miss Parks and Miss Downer wore dainty gowns of white and blue, and Mrs. John wore lavender chiffon over satin.

Mrs. Parks' gown was white lace.

Taste of Desserts Effects Digestion

If dessert is flavored so it appears strongly to one's appetite, it becomes more healthful as a food, for the saliva flows more freely and mixes with the things we enjoy eating.

Blue Ribbon Vanilla is the real extract from choice vanilla beans. Its smooth delicate flavor is lasting and of uniform strength. Try it in cake. Use one teaspoonful to a quart of material.

Blue Ribbon real fruit flavors give a rare, natural fruit taste to custards, ice-cream, pudding, cake and candy, that will long be remembered. Each of the twelve different flavors is the best that can be made. They are economical, pure. Be sure it's the Blue Ribbon. Best grocers.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

The beautiful springtime had brought a great deal of happiness to the Smiling Pool at the foot of the Green Meadows and to the Green Forest. Great-grandfather Frog, who had slept the long winter away in his own special bed way down in the mud, had waked up with an appetite so great that for a while it seemed as if he could think of nothing but his stomach. Jerry Muskrat had felt the spring fever in his bones, and had gone up and down the Laughing Brook, poking into all kinds of places, just for the fun of seeing new things. Little Joe Otter had been more full of fun than ever, if that were possible. Mr. and Mrs. Redwing had come back to the bulrushes from their winter home way down in the warm Southland. Everybody was happy. Just as happy as could be.

One sunny morning Jerry Muskrat sat on the Big Rock in the middle of the Smiling Pool just thinking of how happy everybody was and laughing at Little Joe Otter, who was cutting up all sorts of capers in the water. Suddenly Jerry's sharp eyes saw something that made him wrinkle his forehead in a puzzled frown and look and look at the opposite bank. Finally he called to Little Joe Otter.

"Hi, Little Joe! Come over here!" shouted Jerry.

"What for?" asked Little Joe, turning a somersault in the water.

"I want you to see if there is anything wrong with my eyes," replied Jerry.

Little Joe Otter stopped swimming and stared up at Jerry Muskrat.

"They look all right to me," said he as he started to climb up on the Big Rock.

"Of course they look all right," replied Jerry, "but what I want to know is if they see all right. Look over at that bank."

Little Joe Otter looked over at the bank. He stared and stared, but he didn't see anything unusual. It looked just as it always did. He told Jerry Muskrat so.

"Then it must be my eyes," sighed Jerry. "It certainly must be my eyes. It looks to me as if the water does not come as high up on the bank as it did yesterday."

Little Joe Otter looked again and his eyes opened wide.

"You are right, Jerry Muskrat!" he cried. "There's nothing the matter with your eyes. The bank is as low as it ever gets even in the very middle of summer. What can it mean?"

"I don't know," replied Jerry Muskrat. "It is queer! It certainly is very queer! Let's go ask Grandfather Frog. You know he is very old and very wise, so perhaps he can tell us what it means."

Splash! Jerry Muskrat and Little Joe Otter dived into the Smiling Pool and started a race to see who could reach Grandfather Frog first. He was sitting among the bulrushes on the edge of the Smiling Pool, for the lily pads were not yet big enough for him to sit on comfortably.

"Oh, Grandfather Frog, what's the matter with the Smiling Pool?" they shouted as they came up quite out of breath.

"Chugarum! There's nothing the matter with the Smiling Pool. It's the best place in all the world," replied Grandfather Frog gruffly.

"But there is something the matter," insisted Jerry Muskrat, and then he told what he had discovered.

"I don't believe it," said Grandfather Frog. "I never heard of such a thing in the springtime!"

GOLD DUST
brightens the home

Nothing is so attractive as a cleanly home; nothing contributes so much to cleanliness as Gold Dust. No matter what it touches—china, pots and pans, floors, woodwork, clothes, etc.—it cleans thoroughly, leaves everything spotlessly clean, bright and attractive.

Don't use up all your time and strength trying to keep things clean; use Gold Dust everywhere you can—in all your household cleaning—and let it do the work. It works so quickly and thoroughly that really it makes cleaning a pleasure instead of a task. It makes home "sweet" home.

You can buy a large package of Gold Dust for 5 cents.

THE EVENING STORY

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

A HEART TEST

THE chain of diamonds ran like fire through her hands. She turned it this way and that, exulting in its brilliance. Her face seemed to gather radiance from the gems. Her eyes shone, her lips smiled unconsciously; her breath came quickly. She was like a child with a new, wonderful plaything.

The man who sat leaning forward in the deep chair, his hands clasped between his knees, watched her gravely. He was as lean and dark and quiet as she was golden, plump and vivacious. Looking at them, you would have known instinctively why he loved her. She was his exact opposite. But why he had married her was another question. His heart had perhaps run away with his head—unaccountable, since he was in the main calculative and cautious and extremely wise.

Why she had married him she herself hardly knew. He had come into her life and her mother had urged her. He had money and some power. And these were the things in life she had been taught to reverence. Moreover, it was her first season, and she knew very little about men. He seemed to hold open for her a door that permitted her to turn her back upon all the hard, petty distasteful things with which her scheming mother's ambition surrounded her. She had barely time to contemplate the door before she found herself pushed through it. She was married to Dr. Carrick hard and fast.

That was a year ago. She had grown to admire him immensely, but she sometimes thought she might have been just as happy with some other man. There had never arisen any occasion to sound the depths of her feelings for him. And so she wondered if after all she loved him as she had always dreamed of loving the man she married.

Sometimes she believed that he wondered, too. He was always gentle, surpassingly thoughtful and yet he seemed to be uncertain of her, unsettled in his mind concerning her. He never asked her if she loved him. He seemed instead to be simply striving to bring her to the point where she could say it herself.

When today he had come into the room behind her and drawn something slender and cold and heavy, about her neck, fastening it and, kissing the clasp with a low, "There's your birthday present," her heart had given a wild leap of joy, for she knew that he had at last granted the great wish of her heart—had given her the diamond chain she wanted. With a cry she had run to the glass. There it actually was burning its magic, heatless fires upon her round white throat! She had made him take it off while she examined it. And now silence had fallen while she admired her glorious new treasure.

"Little girl," he said at last, smiling half sadly, "to be fascinated by a trinket."

She glanced at him across the jewels. "It is the most beautiful thing in the world!" she exclaimed. "Oh, John, if you knew how happy you've made me!"

She went to him and knelt down by his knee, still caressing her jewels. Above her bent head she heard him sigh.

"You would be happier, dear, if you understood the true meaning of the gift. And—I would be happier, too."

"What is the meaning, John?"

He hesitated. It is the most beautiful expression of my love for you that I am capable of making, Esther."

"I see." She, too, had grown suddenly grave. "The meaning is as wonderful as the gift. Thank you for both, John, a million times."

She kissed him, and, rising, ran to put the gift away.

She felt strangely uneasy, disturbed. The gay delight of a few moments ago had vanished at his words. The diamonds seemed to have taken on a new look. It was as if each showed the sparkling fire. "Oh," she cried out passionately, "if I can love him as he loves me, dear Lord, send me some way to show him. He has expressed himself in those diamonds. Let me express myself in a way as unmistakable."

Her fingers trembled as she opened the jewel case on her toilet table and laid the gems upon the blue velvet. "I must have a blue velvet gown to show them off upon," she thought. "I'll telephone Mme. Marchand this moment. Oh, no; I'll go to see her this afternoon. That's better."

Her mood had passed.

* * * * *

Mme. Marchand was very amiable that afternoon, and the blue velvet gown promised to be a fitting accompaniment of the new diamonds. Esther came home elated and ran up to peep into her jewel case. She had a thrill of joyful possession as she saw the chain glittering in its azure nest.

"Oh, you beautiful darlings!" she whispered. Stooping, she kissed them with girlish abandon. Reluctantly at last she closed the lid upon her treasure.

That night she went to sleep with happy thoughts of diamonds and blue velvet running through her head. Naturally, her waking thoughts colored her dreams. She dreamed that she was at a great ball, waltzing in a room lined with mirrors and flooded with electric light. She could see herself in the mirrors as she passed—a blue flower of a girl with her diamonds flashing like dew. Suddenly the light seemed to grow in intensity; it became blinding. She was ready to cry out in agony when she opened her eyes. Her heart was fluttering strangely and sweat had broken out upon her. She knew that she had been terrified, instantly with the knowledge she saw what had frightened her.

In the farthest corner of the room, opposite the bed, stood a masked man. In one hand he gripped a pistol. In the other he held a tiny lantern with a powerful searchlight. The rays had fallen upon her face as the apparatus turned in the man's hand. So she had closed her eyes.

She thought many things as she lay there waiting the burglar's next move. He was after her diamonds, of course. There was no lock even to hinder his finding them. She heard him cross the floor stealthily and set the lantern on her toilette table. It was safe for her to look now, and she did.

The masked man was of slender build. John would be more than a match for him physically, but John had no pistol, and even if he had the burglar might shoot first. She looked at John sleeping beside her. He lay with his face turned toward her, one brown sinewy hand resting relaxed upon the coverlid. If she moved so much as a muscle she must wake him. And if she woke him that gleaming weapon in the masked man's hand would become an instrument of death.

"Oh, God," she prayed, mentally, "let him not wake. Let him sleep safely until our danger is past. Help me not to faint or scream or move until he has taken the jewels and gone."

She looked back at the masked man. He had opened the jewel case. His gloating fingers were upon the diamonds. She heard his throat gurgle with greed as he lifted the fiery, beautiful chain. Her precious diamonds! Yet in that moment she knew that there was something yet more precious for her in the world—John's life. She almost hated the diamonds, since they had exposed him to this danger. Oh, if the man would but take them and go!

The light moved and she shut her eyes, scarcely breathing. She heard the man go out of the room. The diamonds were evidently all he wanted. She heard him go downstairs, heard the catch of a window click as he went through. The house was free of him now and all danger was past.

She touched the brown hand on the coverlid. "John!"

He was awake instantly. "What is it, love?"

She told him. At first he was bewildered, incredulous. But when he had risen and turned on the light, had seen the empty jewel case and the open door, he believed her. "My God!" he cried. "And you suffered all that—you were that cool and brave—you saw your diamonds go! Why?"

"Don't you know?" she asked. "Because your life is more to me than all the diamonds in the world." Then her self-control gave way as the tension was removed, and she began to weep wildly.

"Oh, John," she sobbed, "the diamonds were your expression of your love for me. I prayed that the Lord send me some way of expression if I loved you as well. He sent me this way. This has shown me, and I hope it will show you, that I love you even as you love me."

Seized by Meningitis Just Before Wedding Day, Young Man Dies

Robert W. Sutton was to have been married at high noon on the 23d of April. On the night of the 22d he was seized by a violent attack of spinal meningitis and was removed to the Grady hospital. At 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, a month after his illness began, he died.

Day and night through the long weeks of his illness, the girl to whom he was engaged kept constant watch by his bedside, hoping and praying that death would yet spare him for her. She is Miss Lillian A. Tutwiler, formerly a stenographer for the Fidelity Discount company. She resigned that position on April 22 in view of her approaching marriage.

Robert Sutton was a bookkeeper in the local office of the International Harvester company. He lived at 419 Washington street.

Somewhat more than a month ago his father, T. B. Sutton, died from the same disease which was fatal to the son.

Shortly after his father's death, Mr. Sutton and Miss Tutwiler decided not to put off their wedding any longer. It was arranged to take place on April 23. The night before, as Sutton sat in his Washington street home preparing for the great event of the morrow, the illness seized him.

JACKSONVILLE JUDGE GETS POINTERS HERE

W. W. Anderson, of Jacksonville, who will be Judge Anderson after June 1, when he becomes police court recorder in the Florida city, is in Atlanta. He was an interested spectator at the police court Monday morning, occupying a seat on the bench beside Recorder N. R. Broyles.

Mr. Anderson recently won a six-cornered race for the recorder's job. Three of his opponents were lawyers, but his ideas of social reform won the contest. Now he is traveling about the south getting "pointers" on how police courts are conducted in other cities.

Where the Children Come In

There seems to be as much style in children's clothes now as there is in grown-ups. And the children know it, too.

The other day a little girl came home from school and astonished her mother by saying:

"I don't want to wear this dress any more. I want a Russian blouse like all the other girls have."

Now this mother knew that there were such things as "Russian blouse dresses," but that children were wearing them had escaped her notice. Being a wise woman she hastily sought counsel with the advertisements of THE JOURNAL, and there she discovered just what "all the girls were wearing," and where she could buy most advantageously for her little daughter.

Many a mother has found that in order to know what to get for her children she must keep herself informed of changes of style through reading the advertisements of the stores in THE JOURNAL. They tell her not only what the other children have, but where each article may be bought.

CONCERNING JOHNSON'S SPEED.

"How fast is Walter Johnson, Pa,
That people call him speedy?
Is he as fast as Mercury,
Or is the dope all seedy?
Is he as fast as wind or light,
Or say, a rifle bullet?
If you've the answer, put me next,
Get busy, Pop, and pull it."

"The wind is there, my bonny boy,
There's nothing to it, sonny;
The bullet also pikes along
In time to get the money.
But when it comes to cold, raw speed—
The brand that doesn't sag,
This Johnson's got 'em dancing to
The old Pallbearer's Rag."

There have been threatening uprisings by Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cincinnati, etc., for several seasons. But they all succumbed to the Force of Habit after a brief parley. This, however, may be the season in which one of the Worms is due to turn. There has been enough trodding, Allah knows, to produce the first essence of a wiggle any way.

Brooklyn and Philadelphia, for example, are now up there through no freak spurt. They are there because they have been outplaying every rival handily. The Phillies have shown the best pitching in either league and they are likely to show it quite a way yet. Brooklyn is playing regular baseball—and if either or both crack it will be, as suggested, from the force of habit—not through any weakness in playing strength.

THE LATEST ANSWER.

Those who still insist that "they never come back" are requested to take a brief squint in the direction of Cy Falkenberg, the Cleveland pitcher. Cy not only left and returned—but in returning came back with an enlarged repertoire and a heavier portfolio than he ever had at the top of his supposed prime. Two years ago he looked to be waning fast. When he was cut adrift no one expected to look upon his spiral frame again. And today he stands as the closest rival in the American league to Walter Johnson with the finest pitching on display Cleveland has seen since the reign of Addie Joss.

BUNKERS AS IS BUNKERS.

A number of golfers have suggested to us that the African course, trapped by lions, leopards, boa constrictors and such is a joke in the way of unkempt hazards compared to the National course.

"I'd rather pitch a mashie shot over a charging lion any day," writes one, "than to try and carry some of those traps and bunkers at Shinecock Hills."

Which recalls a problem of considerable note—When one, playing this African course, is swallowed by a python, what club does one use to play out with—a niblick or a putter?

We'll never be satisfied until we see a match of some sort between Hans Wagner and Walter J. Travis. Isn't there some natural game at which this pair can fight out the Longevity Championship?

Captain Ritson, of the English polo team, says that the Americans will probably win. Captain Doust, of the visiting tennis team, advances the same thought. The idea is correctly framed. In case the worst comes to the worst there's nothing like having the alibi in advance.

We like this system much better than loud outcries forecasting victory or a "cinch for the pennant." There is time enough for jubilent language after one has finished in front of the field.

HARRY WHITNEY CAPTAINS THE AMERICAN POLO TEAM

More than 40,000 persons will see Harry Payne Whitney, son of the late millionaire and politician who made Grover Cleveland the Democratic candidate for president in 1892—lead the American polo team against the British on the field of Meadow Brook, L. I., June 10. That is, they will see him if he doesn't break his neck in practice meantime. Polo is a millionaire's game and very dangerous game. First, it takes $100,000 worth of ponies to play an international match. As many more ponies are ruined in practice. Second, no one who ever played it for any length of time failed to break an arm, a skull, a leg, or a collar bone. Thus there are two reasons why it will never supplant baseball as the great American game.

The international match against the four led by Captain F. G. Ritson will be played June 10 to June 14. Last year the Americans won. Whitney is a dashing, daredevil player, who rides his pony into anything regardless of consequences, at the same time yelling like a loacoed Indian.

BETTER TO DIE ROOTING THAN NOT TO SEE GAMES

NEW YORK, May 19.—Cheer up, fans! We have a little message of hope and sunshine today for all the good bleacherites who have been in despair over the great Dr. Sargent, of Harvard, and his body blow at baseball. The message of hope is needed, too, because some of the things Dr. Sargent said would surely happen to fans were too terrible to disregard. Lots and lots of rooters have remained in bed these sunny afternoons, fearing the temptation that would bring them to witness the game and hasten their doom. Still other carefree hedonists went just the same, though with the feeling that if they must die it was as well to die yowling for the Giants as whispering to the doctor.

The fine medical phraseology, which is another language like baseball talk and quite as mystifying to the outsider, Dr. Sargent declared that watching a baseball game made a man highly nervous and excited. It wrought up his nervous tension to a perilous attitude, and after keying him up until he was tingling the onery cussed game didn't provide a single "motor outlet" for all the energy.

And there was the rub, according to the medico. The "motor outlet" was not provided. Consequently this pent-up energy led to excesses and even immorality, besides injuring the health of the fan. If the poor fellow could only get a chance to toss a ball a few times or do something outside or sit and look on when everything was right for the working off of a big chunk of surplus energy, why, things would be different. But as the case stood there was no hope for the fan. His days were surely numbered and he might trace every ailment he possessed back to the wicked national game.

Pretty tough situation, wasn't it?

Lots of fans wanted the straight dope. What was there in the "no motor outlet" theory?

One after another big nerve specialists were called on and the facts presented.

And what do you think?

They all laughed! And they laughed big, healthy laughs, too.

IS GOOD THEORY.

And afterward, becoming serious, they said that there was something to the theory, if it was true there was no motor outlet; but on looking the situation over carefully they concluded that the amount of rooting, shouting and pounding on the back which fans indulge in when the emotions are highest provided an excellent "outlet" for ten times the tension the excitement had built up.

Isn't that grand after these days of worry?

For instance, Dr. Thomas D. Wood, of Columbia college, who occupies a similar position to Dr. Sargent, threw back his head and laughed when the evil prophecy was recited to him.

"Dear me," he said, wiping his eyes, "I guess you can tell the fans they needn't worry. To be sure the players are better off than spectators, but that is generally true because athletics are good for us. Baseball is a great big good influence and it is so clean that no one can help being in love with it. We are ever so much better off because of the game than we imagine. Of course, there is a big amount of excitement, but the normal construction of the body will take ample care of that, provided it isn't taken out in shouting and general restlessness during the contest. Watching baseball never hurt anyone."

Dr. Samuel G. Tracy, a prominent nerve specialist, was next consulted.

BASEBALL RELAXATION.

"Well, what next?" he inquired. "This affair reminds me of Grover Cleveland's famous reply 'Important if true.' But it isn't true. On the contrary, baseball is a relaxation. One can relax by having the nerves tuned up. I am willing to send my neurotic patients up to the most exciting baseball game and I feel they will come back better. Anything that provides a healthy interest and keeps a man outdoors in the fresh air which prevails on all baseball grandstands is better far than a similar amusement which takes place indoors. It is good to be keyed up now and then. I'm going to the game myself this afternoon."

"I wonder if Dr. Sargent ever saw fans chasing a car after the game?" remarked Dr. J. Gardner Smith, smiling reminiscently. "There's the 'motor outlet' for nine times the tension a baseball game brings. The spectator gets rid of enough surplus energy during the game if he is excited at all."

Many other physicians were consulted. Some of them didn't like to enter into a controversy with the great Dr. Sargent, but—all laughed.

MOTORCYCLING IS POPULAR; NOW HAS MEMBERSHIP OF 20,000

Five Years Ago the Membership Was Only 1,000, and Now It Is Twenty Times This Number

NEW YORK, May 19.—Springing from a membership of a little more than 1,000 five years ago, the Federation of American Motorcyclists today has close to 20,000 members.

These figures show something of the growth of motorcycling in the United States. And these figures, particularly in the last two or three years, offer some suggestion of the great interest in motorcycling today.

The Federation of American Motorcyclists is the A. A. A. of the motorcycle world.

It was "born" in the rooms of the Alpha Motorcycle club, in Brooklyn, N. Y., September 7, 1903. The call for the meeting was responded to by forty-four men, who became charter members of the F. A. M. Its first president was R. G. Betts, of New York.

The first annual meeting was held July 8, 1904, and at the time the organization boasted 192 members. The next annual meeting was held August 9, 1905, when there were 520 members. June 29, 1906, the membership was 822, and one year later, June 17, 1907, the membership had passed 1,000—standing then at 1,166. At the annual meeting, June 30, 1908, the membership had increased to 1,622.

Thus, in the five years from the date of its organization, the F. A. M. had crept slowly up to a membership of a little more than 1,000.

At the next annual meeting of the F. A. M., held August 1, 1909, the membership had almost doubled. It had reached 2,530.

It almost doubled again in the next year, being 4,652 August 10, 1910.

In the following year it more than doubled, reaching 9,664 on July 9, 1911.

And, despite the greater number of members, the membership had almost doubled again at the time of the next annual meeting, July 1, 1912. Then it was 16,250.

On December 16, 1912, membership card No. 19,320 was issued, showing a gain of more than 3,000 members since July, 1912.

Dr. B. J. Patterson, who was elected president of the F. A. M. last July, hopes and believes that the membership will be close to 30,000 by next July. His predecessors have set "doubling" records for him, and he expects to keep it up. Fred L. Willis, of Indianapolis, was president for the two years when the F. A. M. began "doubling." He took the reins in August, 1909, when the membership was 2,580. During his first year the membership increased to 4,652. During his second year it becale 9,664.

G. H. Hamilton, of Milwaukee, was president from July, 1911, to July, 1912, which time the membership increased from 9,644 to 16,250.

The F. A. M. governs the sport of motorcycling racing, its competition chairman being D. J. P. Thornley, of New York. It promotes and protects the rights of motorcyclists and motorcycling and facilitates touring through a newly established touring bureau.

Fist Battle In Chicago

CHICAGO, May 19.—Automobile houses picked up several hundred men in the downtown district yesterday afternoon and carried them to a secluded spot on the banks of the Desplaines river, where they saw Phil Harrison, champion of the Ghetto, knock out Eddie Nearing, of the Reliance Athletic club, in four rounds. The audience watched the battle in silence, the referee announcing that if there was any cheering the authorities would discover them and spoil the game.

3 Days' Meet Of Hunt Club

NEW YORK, May 17.—Entry blanks have been issued for the three days' meeting of the Washington Riding and Hunt club, which will be held at the Bennings course under a sanction of the Hunts committee of the National Steeplechase and Hunt association. The three races days will be Thursday, May 22; Saturday, May 24, and Monday, May 26.

The stewards of the meeting will be L. M. Garrison, secretary of war; General Leonard Wood, William P. Eno, Colonel R. M. Thompson, Colonel H. T. Allen, Samuel Ross, Henry J. Morris and Charles K. Harrison, Jr.

The events for the first day will be the initial Washington remount steeplechase, Metropolitan club steeplechase, polo scramble, Crevy Chase cup, national capital and the Middleburg and Washington subscription race.

On the second day of the service test, a test to consist of three courses, a total of seventeen miles—twelve miles to be over roads, three miles across country and two miles over a steeplechase course, horses to carry a minimum of 180 pounds and saddles allowed —will be held.

The Washington branch of the National Remount association will present a cup to the owner of the winner, and trophies will be given to the riders of the three placed horses. The other events will be the Benning, Henry of Navarre steeplechase, Rock Creek cup, Stephen B. Elkins' cup, army and navy cup, Washington Riding and Hunt club cup.

RITCHIE IS FLUKE CHAMP

Willie Ritchie, a title holder by virtue of a fluke foul, is out with a statement to the effect that Leach Cross is his most logical opponent. Ritchie's claim to the title is as strong as the argument he now advances as to the man he will fight in his first contest as champion.

This champion has had three twenty-round contests. In two he was whipped. Freddie Welsh gained a verdict over him and Matty Baldwin also earned the honors. On his third attempt to go twenty rounds he won his title from Wolgast after he had been beaten to a pulp b ythe Cadillac bearcat and was given the decision over Wolgast on a foul.

"I will fight Welsh for a guarantee of $15,000." What a generous nature Ritchie has and he picks his opponent for this amount. He absolutely ignores the challenge of Jack Britton, who defeated Baldwin and made Leach Cross look like the merest novice? What a swerthy champion the Queensberry realm has in Ritchie.

The fans will demand that he will meet Britton and when the time comes, Britton will prove to all the world that Ritchie is a fluke title holder.

SWINGS CLUBS 107 HOURS AND THEN WAS DELIRIOUS

LONDON, May 19.—Mr. Tom Burrows, the Australian athlete after a fine exhibition in the Wellington Lines gymnasium, Aldershot, of club swinging lasting 107 hours, suddenly collapsed and the large assembly the dramatic finish came at 5 o'clock. A few minutes before that hour Burrows suddenly roused himself, and developed great irritability. An attendant sprinkled some water on him, and this he seemed to dislike and became delirious. He struck out at a friend on the platform. The clubs were seized, but Burrows broke away, and, turning round, dealt a quartermaster a severe blow on the forewent delirious. For four days and nights he had had no sleep and had been continuously swinging his thirty-one-pound, six ounce clubs at eighty revolutions to the minute. He had set himself the task of swinging clubs for 100 hours and had accomplished this, but hearing an unauthenticated report that some one in Australia had established a record of 112 hours he resolved to go on.

In the early hours of the last morning Burrows exhibited signs of drowsiness, and it was with some difficulty he kept swinging. A continuous rattle of drums and musical selections by regimental bands helped considerably to brighten him, and he occasionally seemed to be entirely re-invigorated. At 2 a. m. he gave a series of ornamental exhibitions. From that period he fought bravely against sleep, but in spite of cornet and posthorn solos in his ears and the continuous cheering by head. Burrows fought out in a frenzied manner, and, falling off the platform into the arms of the officials, gradually sank to the floor. In a few minutes he was sound asleep. He was allowed to remain so for an hour and was then taken home in a taxicab. He fell asleep immediately, and was asleep for twenty-eight hours.

Sheridan Sure He Is Through

NEW YORK, May 19.—Martin Sheridan, the former discus throwing champion of the world and holder of the world's record for the "all around," declares that he will never be seen in competition again. Sheridan's statement was made in answer to a direct question put to him because of the fact that a report had been freely circulated to the effect that Martin would be back this summer and take part in all of the championship discus events. "You can state positively for me," said the big policeman, "that I am through with competition for good. I would like to take part in the games as I used to, but I find that it interferes with my job, so I have decided to cut it out."

Sheridan was asked then whether he could go back into competition and duplicate the performances that made him famous. "I don't think there's a doubt about it," snapped Martin. "At the present time I weigh just 209 pounds.

Famous Shot To Be Coach

AMHERST, May 19.—The Massachusetts Agricultural college has secured Sergeant O. M. Schriver, of the United States marin corps as coach of the rifle teams for the coming summer. Sergeant Schriver was a member of the all-American rifle team which won the international match from the Argentine team at Buenos Aires last summer and also shot in the international small bore team, which recently competed against the English and Australian teams.

Record Entry In Golf Meet

Indications Point to Present Tournament Being Best of the Year

NEW YORK, May 20.—Just an even hundred players, seven more than last year, are entered for the fifteenth annual championship of the Metropolitan Golf association, according to the list made public today. The tournament starts tomorrow at the Fox Hills Golf club, on Staten Island, and continues through to the week end.

Jerome D. Travers, the titleholder; Walter J. Travis, Frederick Herreschoff and Oswald Kirkby are four of the most prominent names in the entry list. There are, however, such men entered as Max Behr, the former New Jersey champion; Hamilton Kerr, the Lakewood medalist; Max Marston, new interscholastic champion; Gilman P. Tiffany, the Hudson River champion; A. F. Kammer, the Staten Island champion; Chisholm Beach, champion of the New York Athletic club; Percy Pyne, the Princeton golfer; Gardiner W. White, who carried Herreschoff to the twentieth green at Oakland last week; Roy Webb, who won the Garden City tournament a year ago; Elmer E. Sturges, who beat Kirkby in the final round at Shinnecock last year, and Robert C. Watson, president of the United States Golf association. There are several others as prominent.

There are a few notable absentees, such as Phillip V. Carter, former interscholastic champion; Findley S. Douglas, ex-champion, now abroad in quest of British honors; Archie Graham, runner-up to Charles H. Seely in 1905, and William L. Hicks, the Nassau veteran.

Baxley Takes Two From Jesup Team.

BAXLEY, Ga., May 20.—Baxley defeated Jesup in two games of ball here Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. The first game resulted in a victory for Baxley in a score of 10 to 4, and the game of Wednesday also resulted in another victory for Baxley, the score being 9 to 4. The only features of the games were the heavy hitting of the entire Baxley team, Dickinson and Tuten leading with the stick, both getting long drives in each game for two and three bases. The Baxley aggregation is going strong at this time, having lost only one series thus far, and that to Eastman, but they expect to meet Eastman the latter part of this month on the home grounds, where they seldom meet defeat. Batteries first game, for Jesup, Tyre, Carroll and Strickland; for Baxley, Tuten and Barnes. Second game, Jesup, Carroll, Harrison and Strickland. Baxley, Barnes and Tuten.

Again Lois Wins.

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., May 20.—The Lois baseball club won from the Fuller team of Villa Rica here Saturday afternoon by a score of 10 to 5. The game was very exciting until the seventh, when the Lois boys decided to put Robinson out of business. The Villa Rica pitcher was hit all over the park. The Lois boys have as good a team as there is.

Two Are Killed in Dance Hall Battle.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., May 20.—While attempting to quell a disturbance at a negro dance hall near here early yesterday morning, Constable W. W. Ball engaged in a pistol battle with a negro, receiving wounds from which he died later. After being shot through the body three times, Ball succeeded in killing his assailant. Another negro and a white man named Harry Sachs were also wounded.

"EVER-LASTING-LY GOOD"
STAG
FOR PIPE AND CIGARETTE

IN THE SPORTLIGHT By Grantland Rice

MY TEAM AND I.

(As Stevenson Led By Stallings.)

O it's I that am the leader of a tidy little team,
Of a team that keeps 'em guessing more and more;
And my men they keep a winning all around and all about;
And when they're a little older, they will find the secret out
Now to boost my team above the higher four

For I mean to grow as mighty as McGraw and McAleer;
All the big guys I intend to eat alive;
And with luck beside to help us, its a rising we shall go,
It's arising in the standing, here the pennant breezes blow,
While the fans fill stands as honey bees the hive.

O, it's sure you'll see us rising o'er the Giants, Dahls and Cubs;
And we'll have the Phillies shedding briny tears,
For astride the first division I will land my foretime dubs,
And we'll make the well known N. L. flag again the famous Hub's—
As it was in '12, remembered yesteryears.
Nelrose Highlands, Mass. —L. H. A.

There is still no purple fire burnt around Stallings' return to the Main Caravanserie, but after all, what one manager of the 16 would you say had done the most effective work with least to work with up to date?

JOHNSON'S SALARY.

When Walter Johnson stalks into Griff's office next winter to discuss 1914 wages he will have quite a little argument for his side of the case in the way of deadly parallel—

The deadly parallel being a series of Washington box scores upon the days he worked and the days he didn't.

THE SCATTERED LEGION.

The Lost Tribe of Israel, wherever it may be, has little or nothing upon the Cub machine of the good old days of 1907 and 1908. Within the space of two weeks we saw this strange procession pass—first, Frank L. Chance, leading the New York Yankees; then Joe Tinker, Miner Brown and Johnny Kling in the scarlet service of Cincinnati—then Evers and Schulte and Reulbach and one or two more with the Cubs; then came Pittsburg and in the Pirate roundup stood Artie Hofman; the Pirates passed and the St. Louis Cardinals registered in town with the moniker James T. Sheckard engraven.

Chance-Tinker-Kling-Brown-Sheckard—scattered among four ball clubs in different leagues—and three years ago they were upon the old machine making its last stand for a world's championship.

We say making its "last stand" for the reason that there will never be another "old machine" of the Cub type. There may be a greater one—but never one more picturesque—with a greater or a more varied tinting of color.

AS TENNYSON MEANT IT.

Then I dipped into the future far as human eye could see
With that Wagner fossil batting still around three-eighty-three.

"What is the best way" queries a correspondent in care of a certain golf magazine, "to play a machine?" A pipe my dear Watson—on a dead line within twelve inches of the cup.

"Do you think," writes in a pent-up fanatic, "that Brooklyn and Philadelphia will be able to hold this clip?"

After lamping the calendar we find the first open date for replying to this query may be as late as July 17, or possibly August 24. Sorry we happened to be crowded just now.

Our old side-kick, R. F. M., suggests that we have weakened on the Red Sox. Perhaps. But who weakened first? Us—or the Red Sox?

JOURNAL WANT AD HOROSCOPE

MAY 21

All persons born from May 20 to June 21 are born under the sign Gemini, meaning "the twins."

This is the head sign of the air triplicity, and some of the most wonderful people in the world are born under this sign.

They have a dual nature in active operation and are hard to understand, as they are never certain just what they want.

Under no sign of the zodiac is the dual nature so closely and clearly shown as in people of this birthdate.

Many philosophers, poets and writers are born under this sign, among them Ralph Waldo Emerson.

This date favors change of location. Business partnerships may be sought with profit in The Journal Want Ads.

Homes will be advertised that are worth considering—farms will be given consideration.

Telephone your ad to The Journal, or ask that it be sent for—whichever is the most convenient for you. Main 5000 or Atlanta 423.

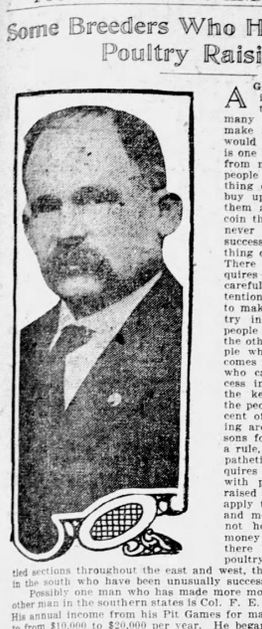
POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Some Breeders Who Have Made Poultry Raising Profitable



A GREAT many people have an idea that the keeping of poultry is not profitable, and many people who undertake it make a failure the same as they would in many other lines. There is one thing about poultry different from most any other line. Many people who have failed at every thing else have an idea they can buy up a lot of chickens, treat them any old way, and they will coin the money for them, but they never were so badly mistaken as success would not apply to anything on earth treated in this way. There is no line of work that requires so much experience, skill, careful management, care and attention and some capital as well to make money out of as the poultry industry. But, thousands of people do not see it this way. On the other hand there are many people who have made handsome incomes from their poultry and many who can directly trace their success in life and their fortunes to the keeping of poultry. Usually the people who make the larger per cent of profit out of poultry raising are ladies, and there are reasons for this. The first one is, as a rule, they are kind hearted, sympathetic and patient, and it requires these three things to succeed with poultry. Anyone who has raised a family of children and will apply the same care and attention and methods to their poultry cannot help but succeed and make money out of their work. While there are hundreds of successful poultrymen in the more thickly settled sections throughout the east and west, there are still quite a number in the south who have been unusually successful.

Possibly one man who has made more money out of poultry than any other man in the southern states is Col. F. E. Grist, of Fort Gaines, Ga. His annual income from his Pit Games for many years past has amounted to from $10,000 to $20,000 per year. He began this work thirty-odd years ago, and now in his old age has plenty to live on and a nice business that comes regularly and will support him and his family just so long as he lives.

Mrs. P. T. Callaway, of Washington, Ga., has in a small way kept poultry for something like thirty years, and well when I say a boy sixteen years old selling Mrs. Callaway a sitting of Brown Leghorn eggs which she carried to Brooksville, Fla., and got a nice start from this sitting of eggs. She has kept poultry more or less from that time until this, and today on a four-acre lot in the suburbs of Washington, Ga., she possibly has the best flock of Rhode Island Reds in the United States. I am confident her income from this one variety of chickens will net her each year from $2,000 to $5,000 the balance of her life just so long as she keeps them up to the high standard that she now has bred them to. Aside from the pleasure and profit they have brought her they have restored her health as she was practically an invalid or in bad health several years ago. The actual work that is absolutely essential in the care and management of poultry has restored her health as well as Mr. Callaways, and they are both now enjoying life to the fullest extent. It is a real pleasure to visit this place and see the chickens and the work they do for any one who will make a business of it the same as they would any other business enterprise.

Mrs. B. H. Middlebrooks, at Yatesville, Ga., who breeds Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Leghorns and Indian Runner Ducks is another lady who started in this small way and has been unusually successful. She gives her fowls the best of care and attention. Every little detail is carefully looked after and they certainly have rewarded her for the work she has bestowed upon them. Furthermore, her children are learning how to care for and manage her business. It is keeping them at home and they are learning a permanent trade that will last through life and make them independent and a good living just so long as they live. This success has been brought about by good judgment and lots of constant work, but not hard work.

Yours very truly,

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Barnesville, Ga.

Heretofore I have had only a small patch of alfalfa, hence curing it was easily managed under shelter. Now I will be compelled to cure in the field and bale before feeding. Will you kindly give me some direction in the matter, such as your experience has proven the best? A. O. M.

ANSWER.

The best way to cure alfalfa hay in large quantities is to use a side delivery rake a few hours after the mowing machine, say from 10 until 4 o'clock, and the hay should be raked in a windrow. It can remain there if necessary until after 10 o'clock the following day, when it should be piled in small cocks and left there for several days to cure, but not for a large amount. The next day three of these cocks should be piled together. It is far better to have a hay can which should be made of white cloth about 44 inches square, and by tieing 4 heavy iron nut or weight on each corner, it will sink and can be used year after year. They can be spread over each pile, and the cocks should be left in the field four or five days with the cap over them. The cap will keep the hot sun from scorching the leaves and will also protect the hay from dew and rain.

Alfalfa hay will usually cure out in a couple of days, and when it will be ready to stack or put in the barn, but it should not be piled in large piles until it has gone through a thorough sweat. It is not best to bale it under two or three weeks. If so, you are liable to have more or less mould in the center of the bale. It is better to haul it from the field at the end of five to ten days and pile in one large pile in the barn, and let it go through, practically speaking, a second sweat, and it is far better to have a wire floor to the barn, as there will then be no danger whatever in heating. Usually the first cutting of alfalfa is full of sap and rather hard to cure. The other cuttings are not so hard to cure.

It will pay any one to prepare a place to store or cure alfalfa just as well as it does to grow it, and this should be done before cutting. You, as well as many others, have found out absolutely sure and certain that alfalfa will grow luxuriantly all over the south where conditions are made right. It is sure to make this a rich and prosperous state, and it will quickly. The ball has started to rolling, and we will soon have an abundance of alfalfa hay all over Georgia. This method of cutting you will find easy, especially if you let it get thoroughly ripe before cutting, which every one should do.

QUESTION.

St. Augustine, Fla.

I have a few cockerels, two to three months old, also some old hens, that I wish to fatten. What would be the best method to feed them on to fatten them the quickest? Let me hear from you soon. C. D. S.

ANSWER.

The best way to fatten either young or old fowls is to give them a limited range in only a small yard, where they can get enough exercise to keep them with a good appetite, and they should be fed cornmeal dough just what they will eat up clean twice a day, also whole corn and wheat once a day, and, with plenty fresh water and with plenty grit in front of them, they will fatten very rapidly if not overfed. They should only be fed as much as they will eat up with a relish, and take away from them anything that is left over.

SOME REAL ESTATE agents advise a close-in investment on the West Side. That is our advice also, and, as West Mitchell street will be the main thoroughfare to the West, we offer a bargain in a close-in tract on that street, lot 58x117, improved with brick store and eight-room residence. Our price for a few days is $125 per foot. Property across the street and adjoining is held at from $200 to $250 per front foot. This is also a sure money maker.

Gate City Realty Company Resells Cheshire Road Acreage, Piedmont Avenue Residence Sale—Piedmont Avenue Lot and Other Sales—Permit Taken for $43,500 West Peachtree Place Apartment House—Residence Auction May 29

A pretty fair assortment of sales was announced on Tuesday, and agents report a decided increase of inquiries.

While most of the inquiries are seasonable, that is, for homes and vacant lots, there is also some demand for investment property, and considerable inquiry for acreage tracts not far from the city.

A good many agents predict that instead of the usual summer dullness, we are likely to have an active market, with conditions getting steadily better until fall, when the new cotton crop will turn loose a good deal of money and liven up general business.

Besides Tuesday's sales announcements, there was a permit granted for a new apartment house close to West Peachtree street.

ACREAGE TRACT RESOLD.

The Gate City Realty company, which bought the 105 acres on the Cheshire road about a mile north of Piedmont avenue, for $40,000, has resold that tract, the price was not given.

W. E. Worley and J. A. Mahoney are the purchasers. The tract adjoins property they already owned.

The land extends back to the DeKalb county line, where there is a width of about 2,000 feet.

RESIDENCE SALE.

W. L. and John O. DuPre have sold for James S. Middleton to Mrs. Mary E. Konts, No. 616 Piedmont avenue, a residence property, for $12,800.

This consists of a two-story, ten-room modern residence on a lot 85x195, which begins 115 feet south of Fourth street.

OTHER SALES.

Piedmont avenue, in one place or another, monopolized Tuesday's announcements. The B. F. Burdett Realty company sold for the Brookwood Realty company a large lot on Piedmont avenue, on the east side of the avenue, just east of the east side of the avenue, just east of Peachtree road, for $10,500.

The purchaser was R. F. Bishop. He really bought three lots of the Peachtree park subdivision, getting an aggregate frontage of 200 feet and a depth of 300 feet.

PIEDMONT PLACE SALE.

The same agency sold for Dr. Paul F. Brown to Mrs. Irene Cameron No. 62 Piedmont place, a residence on a lot 48x176, for $7,000.

APARTMENT PERMIT.

Mrs. Ida A. Turner was on Tuesday granted a permit to build an apartment house at No. 48 West Peachtree place. The building will be of brick veneer construction and cost $43,500. Ben Padgett has the contract.

There will be two stories on a lot fronting forty-seven feet on West Peachtree place, with a depth of 204 feet through to Simpson street, where there is also forty-seven feet of frontage. The building will cover the entire lot.

AUCTION OF HOUSE.

The Ralph O. Cochran company will on next Thursday week, May 29, at 5:30 o'clock, offer at auction the residence at No. 101 West Tenth street. The property is west of Spring street.

It consists of a nine-room, colonial brick house on a lot 109x200. W. C. Harper is the owner.

COL. W. A. HUFF FACES TRIAL FOR CONTEMPT

Case Is Called at Macon to Hear Charge Made by Judge Speer

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
MACON, Ga., May 20.—The case of Colonel W. A. Huff, charged with contempt, following a letter written to United States Judge Emory Speer, was called in the federal court Tuesday morning at ten o'clock.

Judge W. I. Grubb, of Birmingham, is presiding. District Attorney Oliver D. Street, will prosecute the case.

Two of Colonel Huff's sons, Walter and Edmon, have been from other states to be present at the hearing.

The defendant will not have any witnesses, but Judge Speer has summoned a number in his behalf. Mr. E. Y. Mallary was summoned by wire from St. Louis, where he was attending the Baptist convention.

Attorney General T. S. Felder, will represent Colonel Huff.

There is tremendous interest in this case in other parts of the state as well as in Macon and it is believed that there will be a considerable out-of-town audience when the trial. As the federal courtroom only accommodates several hundred persons, hundreds are turned away. After the arraignment proceedings the doors were closed after the, courtroom was filled.

As Judge Speer's testimony and cross examination will take up considerable time, and there are other witnesses to be heard and cross-examined, in addition to the arguments as to the law in the case it is believed that the hearing will last all of two days. Whether Judge Grubb will hold afternoon sessions is not known. He did so when holding court here last year.

The array of counsel for the government and for Judge Speer indicates that the case will be vigorously prosecuted. District Attorney Street will be assisted by Assistant District Attorney A. H. Codington, of Macon, and the judge's personal interests will be looked after by Attorneys Orvill A. Park and Geo. S. Jones, of Macon, and Enoch Callaway, of Augusta. Mr. Felder will be Colonel Huff's only counsel. Attorney Dupont Guerry not being associated any longer with this branch of the Huff case.

MAJOR PRICHARD TO BE TENNILLE POSTMASTER

By RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Congressman Hardwick today recommended the appointment of Major Lawson J. Pirtchard as postmaster at Tennille. Prichard is prominent in the Third Georgia infantry.

Effective Home Remedy For Lung Trouble

It is a serious matter when the lungs are affected. A trip away or to a sanatorium is not only expensive, but it involves separation from home and friends. Some are benefited, but few can safely return. Eckman's Alterative is effective for home treatment. For example: .

231 S. Atlantic Ave., Haddonfield, N. J.

"Gentlemen: In the fall of 1905 I contracted a very severe cold, which settled on my lungs. At last I began to raise sputum, and my physician then told me I must go to California immediately. At this time I was advised to take Eckman's Alterative. I stayed at home and commenced taking it the last week in October. I began to improve, and the first week in January, 1906, I resumed my regular occupation, having gained 25 pounds, fully restored to health. It is now seven years since my recovery has been effected, and I cannot praise Eckman's Alterative too highly. I have recommended it with excellent results."

(Signed.) W. M. TATEM.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious in cases of severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. For sale by all Jacobs' drug stores and other leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.—(Advt.)

NORTHERN ASSEMBLY HEARS NEGRO PROBLEM

Secretary of Board for Freedmen Declares Negro Minister Is Keynote of Situation

The Northern assembly Tuesday morning refused to consider an overture in regard to Roman Catholicism, which read as follows:

"Overture No. 264, from the presbytery of Bernicia, New Mexico, relating to the activity of Roman Catholicism in America, setting forth certain facts and petitioning the assembly—

"To take such action as may be deemed wise to express to the president of the United States and to all in authority the uncompromising loyalty of the Presbyterian church to the principles of civil and religious liberty for which our father struggled, and that we expect our government to be true to those principles as embodied in the constitution of our republic."

Other overtures on which the assembly took negative action were as follows:

From a number of presbyteries, to take steps to organize a board of church extension.

From a number of presbyteries, to reduce the assembly.

From a number of presbyteries, to ordain that all paid officers of the various boards be elected by ballot of the general assembly, term of office fixed by the general assembly.

From presbytery of Madison, to make fifty-five years the age limit of secretaries of boards.

From presbytery of Butte, to give synods and presbyteries fair representation in the membership of the boards, and to elect board members for five years without re-election.

The report of the board of freedmen and the standing committee on freedmen followed the overtures.

The committee's report was presented by Rev. Howard Agnew Johnston, D. D., the chairman.

THE NEGRO PROBLEM.

He declared the Presbyterian church has only touched the fringe of the negro problem, and that it must take hold with intense enthusiasm and constructive ability. He said education of the negro masses is not sufficient, nor even industrial training, but that the church must supply Christian leaders who are heroes, and negro leaders in the various professions.

"The negro problem is so appalling," said Dr. Johnston, "that it staggers our faith in ourselves, and I might almost say our faith in God. He challenges us in the words of Jeremiah, 'I am God of all flesh.' We must not be cowards. We must, if we call ourselves Christians, face the situation."

Rev. John Gaston, associate secretary of the board, reviewed some of the striking phases of the negro problem as the board sees it, and told in a general way of the work the board is doing. He said the negroes have had only fifty years in which to become civilized and Christianized, because, under slavery, they received only some incidental blessings." He said the negro minister is the keynote of the whole negro problem.

In short, as the board views the negro problem, the hope of the race lies not in the uplift of the masses, but in trained and educated Christian leaders, and that the duty of the church is to furnish these leaders.

The resolutions offered by the committee in behalf of the board were adopted, the substance being that the assembly approve the board's plans for wiser constructive work, and urge the church to support the board with more liberality.

HEIRS OF BENSON ADAMS WANT FORMER PECK HOME

They Filed Complaint in Superior Court for Valuable Peachtree Lot

Complaint was filed in the superior court Tuesday morning for the possession of Mrs. Charlotte J. Peck's former home place on Peachtree street, between Pine and Merritts avenue, by E. P. Adams, Florence A. Noyes, Leonora D. Johnson and Thompson Marshall, a minor, whose best friend, H. B. Johnson, stands sponsor.

The plaintiffs allege they are owners in fee simple of this lot, which is estimated to be worth easily $1,000 a front foot, each one claiming a one-fourth interest. The lot is one the east side of Peachtree, 272 feet north of Pine street, and is thirty-four feet on Peachtree and runs back 160 feet.

The court paper is a lengthy document and was prepared by J. A. and J. M. Hayes and Westmoreland Bros., as attorneys for the plaintiffs.

In addition to Mrs. Peck, B. F. Wyly, Jr., as administrator for Mrs. Ellis Peck Wyly, and Mrs. White Peck Meador are named as defendants.

The plaintiffs go as far back as December 22, 1856, and cite a marriage contract between Mrs. Leonora E. Leitner, widow of John C. Leitner, and Benson W. Adams, by which Mrs. Martha Hudson was named as trustee for Mrs. Leitner. A copy of this contract is exhibit "A" in the legal document, and it gives the names of nearly a dozen slaves inherited by Mrs. Leitner from her deceased husband, as well as Georgia state bonds and moneys due her husband on promissory notes.

The principal of this fortune was to be kept intact for the bride of Adams, and it was stipulated that the groom was to be allowed to do what he wanted with the interest and income.

He became insolvent after his wife's death, and accepted $1,500 in consideration of $4,500 due the estate by him. The estate in the meantime had been left for the children, who had another trustee appointed when Mrs. Hudson died. The second named trustee was Alexie W. Marshall, brother of Mrs. Leitner Adams.

The present lot, it is claimed, was traded by Marshall with William Gabbett, trustee of Sarah E. Gabbett in 1866, and it is then described as it now lays.

The two first named petitioners are Mrs. Leitner-Adams' own children by Adams, and the last two ar egrandchildren.

There was no order set by any judge, the document was just ordered filed.

GREAT CONTEST PLANNED BY CENTRAL BAPTIST

An unusually large audience is expected to be present, as at this time Dr. Ridley expects to lay before the officers and members of the church and Sunday school his plans for a great contest which is soon to begin between the men and women and the boys and girls of the church and community. The members of the church are very enthusiastic over the project and it is confidently expected by all that the contest will result in great victory.

Effective Sunday, May 25. Popular excursions to Warm Springs via A., B. & A. Only $1.00 round trip. Train leaves Union Station 8:00 a. m. Delightful outing.

Mortality From Colds Is Alarming

Thousands Died Last Year From Colds, Neglected Too Long

Practically every case of pneumonia was first just a cold. During a hard winter in America, hundreds will neglect the simple cold, and succumb to grippe, cold, permitted to settle and inflame, is the beginning of the Great White Plague itself, for which we are spending Millions of Dollars to find a cure.

Most colds are traceable directly to an inactive liver. You get overheated, cool off too suddenly and the poison dose. The blood recedes from the surface and a congestion is produced. The same condition exists if you sit in a draft, or get wet. The liver finds its efforts overcome by pressure of the blood, and being unable to perform its function of cleansing away the waste, undigested food remains in stomach and intestines and ferments. The head gets hot, the feet cold and bowels constipated. Then cold sets in.

If JACOBS' LIVER SALT is taken immediately, it will ward off the cold. It relieves the congestion, rejuvenates the liver and sends the blood racing through the veins with a vigor that will instantly dispel the depressing attack of cold. A simple remedy, but worth its weight in gold if you value health. And it will not put you in bed.

Take JACOBS' LIVER SALT before breakfast, an agreeably bubbling drink, and in an hour you'll feel fine. The man who doesn't catch cold keeps his liver lively, and you will find no other liver tonic as good as the genuine JACOBS' LIVER SALT. All druggists, 25c. If yours cannot supply you upon receipt of price we will mail full size jar, postage free. Made and guaranteed by Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., Atlanta.—(Advt.)

COMMITTEE JOBS ARE NOT OBJECTS OF LOG-ROLLING

So U. S. Assembly Holds, Continuing Nominating Power in Subordinate Board

Over the question of authority to be defined for its permanent committee on systematic beneficence the southern (U. S.) Presbyterian assembly engaged in sharp debate as to one particular Tuesday morning, that particular being as to whether or not the committee or the assembly shall formulate the several executive committees of the assembly.

"We recommend that the assembly do not define in as clear and explicit language as possible all the duties and powers belonging to the permanent committee on systematic beneficence," the report recited, in part. Then, further:

"9. It shall be the duty of the permanent committee on systematic beneficence, after the most careful study of the whole situation, to nominate to the assembly names for members of the several executive committees, it being fully understood that this does not take away the right of any individual member of the assembly to make similar nominations."

On that point the debate arose.

Dr. William McF. Alexander, of New Orleans, objected to its adoption, contending for the naming of the committees by the whole assembly.

"Men who aspire to places on these committees play politics for their jobs," he charged. He asserted that the actual method of listing nominations involves much "log-rolling."

This was denied stoutly by Dr. Thomas S. Clyce, of Texas, retired moderator of the assembly.

"It is not possible," he asserted, in part. "The men who serve on these committees work for nothing and often get nothing but condemnation for their labors. Frequently they are men of wealth, who are required to give to committee duty time from their personal affairs and their business interests."

The assembly adopted the committee's recommendation, continuing the power of nominating executive committeemen in the hands of the permanent committee on systematic beneficence. Dr. Walter L. Lingle, chairman of the committee, rendered the report to the assembly.

The great calamity in Omaha was quickly overshadowed by the terribly disastrous floods in Ohio. Great suffering and sickness from colds and exposure resulted which Foley's Honey and Tar Compound helped to alleviate. L. Poole, 2217 California St., Omaha, writes: "My daughter had a severe cough and cold but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound knocked it out in no time. My wife would not keep house without it. We have used it for years, always with good results." For sale by all dealers.—(Advt.)

LIQUOR MADE HIM "BAD;" NOW HE MUST MEDITATE

When John Couch, of 175 Mayson and Turner avenue, became over-exuberant as a result of what is thought to have been too much blind tiger whisky at White City Monday evening it took two policemen to persuade him that he was not a "white hope" in training. The bluecoats had to use force to drive their arguments home.

As it was, Couch created a general disturbance of such large dimensions that City Recorder N. R. Broyles thought a fine of $100 and costs justifiable when the offender was brought before him Tuesday morning. Couch's case in court was aggravated, also, by the fact that he was well stocked with "licker" when he finally was taken into custody. Three pint bottles—almost one for each pocket—were taken from him and exhibited as evidence in court.

Makes Rheumatism Promptly Disappear

Crippled-Up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of Croxone Are Taken.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can surely avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poison from the blood, and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief after the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to overcome the worst backache or urinary disorders.—(Advt.)
